DELEGATE FLAYS MINERS' HEAD IN OHIO MEETING

Calls President Lewis Tyrant For Action in Howat Case.

Conservatives Cheer Defense of Lewis Made By His Supporters.

Columbus, Jan. 20.—The Ohio miners convention today was to consider reports of its resolution and grievance committees.

Test votes taken so far indicate that the conservative element is in a safe majority. It is expected that any effort to pledge support of the Ohio miners to Alexander Howat, deposed president of the Kansas miners, will meet with failure.

The conservative elment yesterday succeeded in outlawing strikes making it necessary to obtain authority from the district officials before a local strike can be called.

Speeches on a resolution in defense Howat received but little applause, while those condemning him and upholding President Lewis were repeatedly cheered. The convention is not expected to reach a vote on the question until late this afternoon due to the eagerness of delegates to speak on the subject.

A motion to limit each speaker to ten minutes was overwhelmingly defeated after John J. Hoge of Bellaire, a Howat supporter, had spoken more than two hours in his defense.

The Bellaire delegate characterized John L. Lewis as a tyrant and dictator of the worst sort. "Miners have no use whatever for Judge Anderson or Judge Taft and their injunctions against the miners," he declared. "But the injunction of John L. Lefis against the Kansas miners and his injunction stopping Illinois miners from extending aid to the women and children of Kansas miners was worse than any injunction ever granted by Judge Anderson."

Hoge and his followers wanted the convention to adopt a resolution similar to one adopted at a mass meeting in Bellaire December 11 by representatives of eleven river front local unions in Belmont and Jefferson counties. This resolution bitterly attacked Lewis and staunchly defended Howat.

JAMES CASE OPENS TODAY

Charged With Possession Of 96 Quarts of Liquor, Newark Man Goes on Trial.

State Prohibition Agent J. W. Gilbert and Attorney J. L. Hilton of Canton, representing the anti-saloon league, are in Newark today in the interests of the prosecution of the case of the state against Curtis James, which was begun in municipal court at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

James was originally arrested last November with three Columbus men charged with the possession of 96 quarts of liquor. The case was thrown out of the municipal court by Judge Bolton on a matter of law as Safety Director Swank did not have a search warrant or warrant for the arrest of the men at the time of the raid.

The liquor was ordered returned to James and when it was done Agent J. W. Gilbert served a search warrant on James and again confiscated the 96 quarts and in addition found 17 more quarts of bonded stuff at his home in South Sixth street. The case was continued twice in December and was assigned for hearing this afternoon by Judge Bolton. Attorney Phil B. Smythe is defending James in the case.

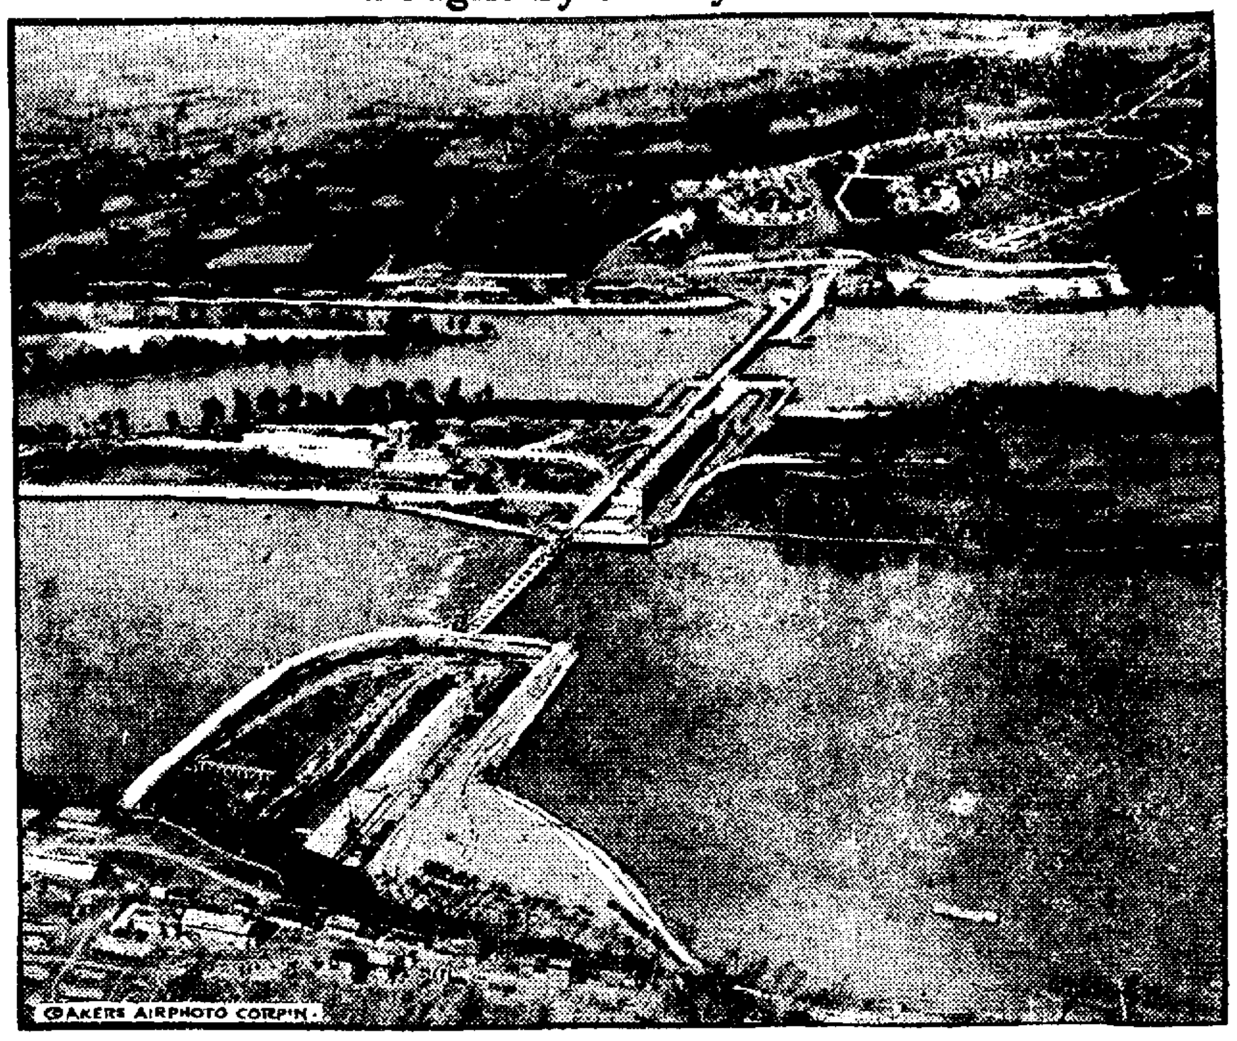
Airplane View Shows Extent of Muscle Shoals Project Sought by Henry Ford



This picture, just taken from an airplane at a height of 1,000 feet affords a definite idea of the immensity of the Muscle Shoals project which Henry Ford purposes to convert into the world's greatest industrial center. In the foreground is the Tennessee River, divided by a large island which is bridged to either shore by the great Wilson Dam, one and a quarter miles long and the largest in the world. The dam is 25 feet higher than Ford also proposes another dam at the Gatun Lock at Panama and exceeds the great Roosevelt Dam by 35 feet. Lesser Muscle Shoals which would make the river navigable for ocean liners to Birmingham. Ford is now in Washington awaiting action on his bid for the project.

9 COPS KILLED IN 13 MONTHS

Heavy Toll Taken In Ranks of New York Policemen By Criminal Element.

New York, Jan. 20.—Last night's killing of Patrolman Otto W. Motz by Frank Whaley, a negro who had been picked up on suspicion of insanity, increased to nine the list of New York blue coats shot to death in the last 13 months. Eight were victims of criminal gun men, the other was laid low by a fellow policeman. Of the slayers, two are awaiting trial, two were convicted of murder, one was confined in an institution for the criminal insane, two were exonerated and one escaped without leaving a clue to his identity.

The list of killings began on Dec. 20 1920, when Lieutenant Floyd Horton was shot down while trying to halt a gang of bandits fleeing in a motor car.

On Feb. 17, 1921, Detective Joseph J. Bridgetts was killed by Charles Davis, a Brooklyn chemist, in the latter's office. Davis was sent to the state insane asylum at Mattewan.

Patrolman Joseph L. Connelly was killed March 27, while raiding a crap game in Brooklyn. One of the players admitted firing the fatal shot but was freed on the pleas that he thought the officer was a robber.

Patrolman Daniel J. Neville fell on August 7, while attempting to arrest William F. Hoey, gangster, drug addict and ex-convict. Hoey was sentenced to from 20 years to life imprisonment last Monday.

The body of Patrolman Joseph A. Reuschle was found on the morning of Sept. 28. His murderers escaped.

The next notable case was that of Detective William A. Miller and Francis J. Buckley killed on Jan. 5 by Luther Boddy, Harlem desperado who fled through three streets and eventually captured in Philadelphia. Boddy pleading temporary insanity, will go on trial Monday.

Patrolman Frank Brojer, thought to have run amuck, was shot dead by Patrolman James J. O'Connell, after having shot at a taxicab driver and threatened O'Connell with his pistol.

A motive for the latest crime is still lacking. Whaley had been taken to a police station for investigation after complaints that he acted queerly. Left alone in a waiting room, he seized the pistol of the unsuspecting officer when the latter came in to rest and shot him through the brain.

OHIO CAPTAIN IS DECORATED

Alliance Officer Who Lost Arm at Mont Faucon, Given Legion of Honor Cross.

Washington, Jan. 20.—In the presence of President Harding, government officials and his wounded buddies, the cross of Knight of The Legion of Honor of France, was bestowed upon Captain Fred Kochli, of Alliance, Ohio, by the French Ambassador Jusserand today at the White House.

In citing the captain's record of valor in the war as he pinned the cross upon the captain's breast Ambassador Jusserand declared with feeling that no token which France could bestow could compare with the captain's empty sleeve.

The officer lost his right arm while capturing five pieces of German artillery with several comrades at Mon Faucon, Sept. 27, 1918.

Captain Kochli was an officer of the 146th regiment of the 37th division. The ceremony was attended by Secretary of War Weeks, Attorney General Daugherty and Captain Kochli's wife and infant son. At its conclusion the president, Secretary Weeks and Ambassador Jusserand shook hands and talked with a number of wounded men from Walter Reed military hospital who were present.

3242 LICENSE TAGS SOLD HERE

Total is Approximately 20 Per Cent Less Than During Same Period Last Year.

The number of people buying licenses up to date this year is approximately four-fifths of the number who had purchased them during the same length of time last year, according to those in charge of the sale. Only 3242 automobile linceses have been purchased this year while during the same period of time last year 3659 licenses had been purchased.

The number of tags for trucks has also suffered a like decrease only 640 being sold this year while during the first 20 days of last year there were 800 truck tags sold. Thirty-one trailer licenses were sold last year while with only 18 this year.

Motorcycle tags have also taken a slump, there being 33 tags sold this year against 52 during the same time last year, while 10 side care licenses have been issued against 25 of last year.

In applying for licenses nine points are taken into consideration, the make of the car, engine number, factory number, motive power, type of car, number of cylinders, year built, model and cylinder bore. The licenses for cars having up to 25 horse power are $8, from 25 to 35 horse power are $12 and over 35 horse power are $20.

According to Carl Reinbold the decrease in the sale of licenses is largely due to the general financial depression. Persons having passenger cars are keeping them in storage for the winter and if licenses are not purchased until after April 1 a saving of one-fourth is made. The persons using trucks are cutting down on their total making the fewest number possible do the work. He also stated that the conditions over the state according to Registrar A. G. Snow are the same is in Licking county.

STEEL SHARES SHOW ACTIVITY IN WALL STREET

Gains of Two to More Than 10 Points Are Recorded.

Re-action Follows Quickly and Quotations are Changed Rapidly.

New York, Jan. 20.—Buying of steel and iron shares on a scale without parallel since the war boom was the feature of todays early dealings on the stock exchange.

Gains of two to more than 10 points were made by a round dozen of those shares in the first hour, although the greater part of the first rise was speedily cancelled. The movement was attended by rumors of impending consolidations or mergers.

Gulf State Steel which overshadowed all other stocks on the previous day, opened at a three point gain to 85, yesterdays highest figure. Selling for profit effected only a one point reaction after which it resumed its upward course to 90 1-2 a new record.

A statement on the news tickers attributed to Henry Ford, denying that he was interested in Gulf States, then caused that stick to fall almost perpendicularly to 70 1-2 to 11 points under yesterdays close.

Later it climbed to 78 1-2 and sagged back to 74.

Replogle Steel which is controlled by prominent industrial interests was another sensational feature, rising to 5-8 points in the early dealings to 41, but soon falling back to nearly 33.

Crucible, Lackawanna, Midale, Republic, Vanadium, Sloss-Sheffield, Iron Products and Colorado Fuel were among the affilated stock to register gains of 2 to 5 points, with subsequent sharp reactions.

Aside from sugars which showed unusual strength, the general stock list was dull and irregular, attention centering entirely in the spectacular movements of steel and iron shares.

Commission houses with wire connections with the principal steel centers, especially Pittsburgh, Cleveland and Chicago were among the participants in the buying of steel and iron shares.

DIPHTHERIA CASES REDUCED TO 20

One case each of scarlet fever, diphtheria, and chicken pox were reported to the office of the health commissioner yesterday making a total of 20 diphtheria, 27 scarlet fever, one chicken pox and two typhoid fever cases in the city. The general condition of diseases over the city at the present time according to Dr. Knauss is greatly improved, there being only about onefouth as many quarantined cases in the city as there was about four months ago. One thing is especially urged by the department and that is all people having the diseases and those who come into contact with them use the utmost care in preventing their spread.

MAYOR OLES FIRES 50 COPS

Asks 10 Veterans to Retire on Pension — All Discharged Men are New Officers.

Youngstown, Jan. 20.—Mayor George L. Oles today announced the dismissal of 50 policemen, and requested 10 veterans to retire on pension. The discharged are all officers of less than a year's service and consequently are not under civil service rules.

Oles assigned no reason except that he was 'going to keep his platform promise to clean up the police force." He said there were no charges against the dismissed men, and eliminated another possible motive, that of economy by intimating that he would fill their places.

"This is just a starter," he declared. "I'm going to clean up every department, one by one."

Last Sacraments Administered To Pope Benedict

Pope Benedict XV.

A scholar, a trained diplomat, an aristocrat, with the traditional Genoese trait of shrewdness in money matters—

Small, frail, somewhat bent, thin and angular, with a weak, inharmonious voice—

Yet triumphing over all of these with the inherent force of his character and mind.

That is Pope Benedict XV (Giacomo Della Chiesa), who has served as pope since September 3, 1914, when he was chosen the 260th pope to succeed Pius X.

In the difficult years that he has directed the policy of the Roman Catholic church, Benedict XV has made relations between the Vatican and the Italian government easier, and has taken an interested part in world affairs.

The revival of the Vatican as a great power in diplomacy is the personal achievement of Benedict XV.

During the World War he appealed to all the belligerents in behalf of peace. He voiced his proposals for ending the conflict on four separate occasions. On the last occasion his document called forth the noteworthy reply from President Wilson as spokesman for the allies.

He was strongly in favor of the League of Nations plan and as strong against communism and bolshevism.

When America entered the World War Pope Benedict XV expressed a belief that the country's participation would likely facilitate the approach of world peace.

After the war he declared in favor of the Washington arms conference.

Born in Pagli, in the diocese of Genoa, November 21, 1854, the son of a wealthy nobleman, Benedict XV got a thorough grounding in his boyhood studies. He decided to enter the priesthood early in life and prepared for it in the schools at Genoa.

In 1876 he entered the Capranican college at Rome and finally became a student at the Academy of Noble Ecclesiastics.

His studies were completed in the last days of Pope Pius IX and he was ordained to the priesthood in 1878 at the age of 23.

Shortly after he went to Madrid with Archbishop Rampolla and on his return was made a permanent under secretary of the secretariate of state.

He rose rapidly from that time on, in the ranks of the church, being made archbishop of Bologna in 1907. After seven years he was elevated to the College of Cardinals.

When chosen pope, he at once took the name of Benedict XV. He was crowned pope on September 8, 1914, five days after being chosen.

ERIE CONTRACTS FOR ROAD WORK

Maintenance of Way Work is Turned Over to Contractors— Becomes Effective Today.

Youngstown, Jan. 20.—A contract which involves turning over the maintenance of way work of the Ohio region of the Erie railroad to the Dickson Constructon company is in effect here today, thereby putting the entire Erie system's maintenance work into the hands of contractors, it was announced at Ohio regional headquarters here.

The Dickson company is incorporated under New Jersey laws, and has headquarters in Youngstown. Its president, J. B. Dickson, is a former general manager of the Ere and until recently was general superintendent of the Delaware and Hudson company at Rochester, New York.

The contract which became effective today affects about 4,000 men, whose wages are reduced from 40 cents an hour to the prevailing labor rate of the communities through which the road operates. In Youngstown the prevailing rate is 30 cents. The Ohio region covers trackage from Salamanca, N. Y., to Marion, O.

POPE BENEDICT IS NEAR DEATH, HAS PNEUMONIA

Head of Catholic Church Asks For Last Sacraments.

Oxygen is Administered To Carry Him Over Crisis.

Rome, Jan. 20.—(6:00 p. m.)—The Pope at this hour is still showing resistance against the progress of his malady. At 5:10 it was announced that the condition of Pope Benedict remains stationary, it was stated at the vatican late this afternoon. Camphor injections are being frequently resorted to. His Holiness recognizes those around him.

At 6:45 p. m. it was announced that Pope Benedict's condition was grave, but the pneumonia had not spread further. The pontiff's temperature was given at this hour as 101, pulse 104, respiration 60.

Dr. Battinstini confirming the gravity of the Pope's condition and declaring the only hope was in supernatural intervention, said His Holiness was threatened with suffocation, owing to the excessively high respiration.

Rome, Jan. 20.—Pope Benedict's life hangs in the balance today and fears were expressed at the vatican at noon that his Holiness was in a dying condition. During the early hours of this morning, towards 4 o'clock, there was a sudden change for the worse and the bronchial affection from which His Holiness had been suffering for several days spread to his lungs.

The pontiff asked for and received the last sacrament, insisting upon this "if only to give a good example," he said, despte attempts by his attendants to dissuade him.

The pope's physicians were in consultation at the vatican at an early hour and the morning bulletin, issued afterward, indicated an extremely serious condition. Dr. Battinsitni however stated then that while the condition of His Holiness was grave, it was not hopeless.

About 11 o'clock in the forenoon, however, the pope's condition became aggravated and the administration of oxgen was begun.

At 11:30 o'clock the Eucharist was solemly carried to him.

Meanwhile prayers were being said in all the churches and Catholic institutions of Rome on behalf of His Holiness and great crowds began to assemble in St. Peter's.

Todays sudden change for the worse in the pontiff's condition seemed to have come as a great surprise, even to those who had been observing him most closely. Last evening he recived some strengthening injections, and the doctors then stated they were satisfied with his condition, expressing hope that dangers of extension of the inflamation to the lungs had passed and saying the crisis appeared to be overcome.

One of the most disturbing conditions that developed early today seemed to be passing after 10 o'clock this morning, as the pontiff was then able to expectorate slightly. This aroused more hope among the watchers, but towards 11 o'clock, became worse again and oxgen then was administered.

Upon leaving the Papal apartment the Cardinals who administered extreme unction said the pope's mind was perfectly clear but that his condition was so grave that only a miracle could save him.

Shortly after 11 o'clock Monsignor Zampini, the sacristian of the palace, accompanied by the cardinals, went to the Palatin chapel and took the sacrament to the pope. The cortege was preceeded by four of the Palatini's guards carrying lighted candles, four chair bearers and four uniformed private guards, the cardinals following. Cardinal Gasparri and Monsignor Zampini were weeping.

The cortege proceeded to the papal apartment, which was entered only by the cardinals and a few of the palace prelates. Those who were waiting in the ante-chamber told their beads as the procession passed to the pope's bedside, where extreme unction was administered His Holiness.

Pope Benedict, retaining the clearest consciousness, followed with deep emotion the reading of the formula of profession of faith by Cardinal Giorgi. After receiving the communion, he said to Cardinal Sili:

"I beg you to recommend me to the Virgin of Pompeii."

Monsignor Zampini, sacristian of the apostolic college, Monsignor Carlo Respighi, the pontifical prefect of ceremonies, and Monsignor Migone, the private chamberlain, were at the pope's bedside.

There was an air of deep anxiety and apprehension about the vatican, where many of the cardinals were waiting in an ante-chamber, all the cardinals in Italy having come to Rome upon receiving word of the pope's serious illness.

Later Cardinal Gasparri the papal secretary of state telegraphed all the nunicos advising them of the seriousness of the pope's condition while urgent telegrams were sent to

RAMBLER LEAVES GROW; TULIPS ARE SPROUTING.

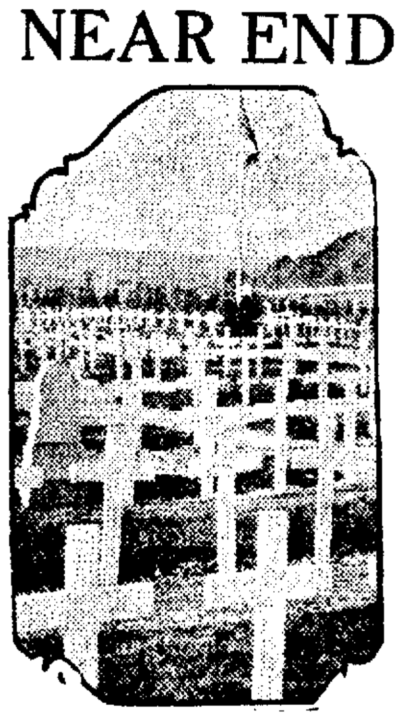
"Spring hath cam'," but you will probably "say it with colds." Anyway R. L. Williams, the Hudson avenue pharmacist, tells of finding early evidence of its presence in the offing.

Here is his certified statement: "The rambler rose bush is budding its greenery and tulips' curiosity is getting the better of the plants and they are sticking their noses through the ground."

RETURN OF PHANTOM ARMY OF YANKEE DEAD NEAR END

Unloading Yank Dead From a Transport at New York.

The Permanent American Soldier Cemetery at Chaumont, Former General Headquarters of the A. E. F.



One of the temporary American cemeteries in France. Soldiers buried here are being transferred to the permanent burial grounds.

Washington, Jan. 20.—(By NEA)—Pilgrimage of American soldier dead from overseas is ending.

Upward of 42,000 bodies from the dead of the A. E. F. have been brought home. A few more than 2000 are yet to come. Approximately 31,500 will remain permanently in Europe.

From the war's beginning the government's policy regarding the return of military dead has been uniform.] It expressed the hope that families might approve the interment of soldier relatives in American cemeteries abroad, but the option of leaving or returning the body lay with the nearest of kin.

When the Armistice came, with bodies having been buried where they fell, there were 2400 American burial places—and many isolated graves—along the front lines. That number has been gradually reduced.

Eventually there will be one main American burial place in Britain—at Brookwood in Surrey, about 24 miles from London—and six in France—to be known as the cemeteries of the Aisne-Marne, Meuse-Argonne, Somme, Oise-Aisne, St. Mihiel and Suresnes.

Of the French American burial places the Meuse-Argonne is the largest. Upwards of 20,000 graves are there.

At two other places besides the Brookwood burial spot in Britain, a few American bodies are likely to remain. One is the Isle of Islay, where Tuscania victims were washed ashore, and the other is at Cliveden, in the valley of the Thames, where Lady Nancy Astor, member of Parliament and native of Virginia, made her Italian villa into a war-time hospital.

A committee of the National Fine Arts Commission has prepared plans for landscaping and construction work on the American burial plots abroad, and designed a standard headstone to mark each grave.

The stone is of American white marble, 38 inches long and 10 inches wide at the top. In a circle on the face of the stone is cut an emblem of the soldier's religious faith.

The task of repatriating thousands of bodies and of concentrating other thousands was—and is—tremendous. After much time and argument America and France finally reached an agreement permitting evacuation of our dead from the "one of military operations."

Bringing back the phantom army has been the work of the quartermaster general's department. Its cemeterial division at Washington operates through the machinery of the graves registration service in France. There are few previous undertakings with which to compare its accomplishments.

THE WOMAN'S PAGE

POLLY and PAUL ...and PARIS

By Zoe Beckley

CHAPTER VII.
NEW FACES.

"But my darling girl, you needn't be scared of Violet Rand! she's only a newspaper woman—someone I met when I worked on the Evening Star in New York. She's a sort of 'star writer' (Ha, a pun!) what we called a 'sob sister.' Used to do the 'specials' and the spectacular stunts—you know, interviews and things."

"I'm not scared of her, Paul. It's only that I kind of thought—(Polly twisted a button on her husband's coat) you know—that we'd be all alone—(She glanced shyly up into his face) to ourselves on this—this wonderful trip and—"

"Then everybody'd be kidding us for honeymooners! We want to mix a bit with the other passengers, Pussy. I tell you Violet Rand is a good fellow; you'll like her when you know her."

"But she's so—so terribly smart and chic and breezy and—and—somehow she makes me fell like a—well, so unsophisticated."

"You, my girl, my darling, are as I want you—sweet and genuine and good and beautiful." His arms enclosed her. "I love you as my life, my soul—because you are you and no other."

Again Polly's vague uneasiness was dispelled. Ah, how heaven-sweet it was to be loved.. Yet she sighed a little as she opened her trunk, set out her toilet things, hung her pretty negligee in the glistening white bath adjoining the chintz-hung cabin and got the place "looking homey."

"What do you suppose she's going abroad for?"

"Huh—?" Paul was attentively reading the passenger list. "Who?"

"Miss Rand."

"Oh—I haven't an idea. I scarcely know her. Is she still on your mind? Well, don't bother your head about her. We'll find out soon enough what she's going for—Vio's some talker. Come on, dear, there goes the luncheon gong."

They found seats at a round table holding eight. To Polly's slight dismay, Miss Rand was there across from Paul. She was a dashingly handsome girl five or six years older than Polly, with blond hair, coiffed in the last cry of smartness. Her suit of a dark mahogany shade, was obviously the product of one of the small Fifth avenue shops into which Polly had scarcely dared go, the day or so she had been in New York. Her hat—how did people know how to get hats of such distinction, and wear them with such an air, indefinable but so obviously right!

On the third finger of Miss Rand's left hand glittered a ring of wondrous richness—a square cut sapphire in a bed of small diamonds. It might have been an engagement ring or not. Polly hoped it was, without knowing why she hoped so.

How well Violet Rand fitted into her surroundings—the handsome saloon, with huge vases of multicolored flowers on every table, the glistening silver and glass on spotless damask, the square curtained windows (not mere portholes, as Polly had imagined) through which the sun dappled water flashed!

"Oh I'm never ill on the ocean." Miss Rand was saying to her next neighbor, a good looking American business man of the type that always chooses the best boats and oils its progress with huge tips. "Are you, Mrs Dawson?"

"It's my first crossing," answered Polly with a blush she tried to suppress.

"Ah?" Superiority, or so Polly fancied, was in the tone.

"You are to be envied" said a quiet voice at her right. Polly turned gratefully and saw a thin man with prematurely gray hair and a friendly smile.

CHAPTER VIII.
LIFE'S HARDEST JOB.

After lunch, Polly and Paul, like the other passengers, rooted out ther ship clothes and went on deck to locate their chairs and settle into them under the plaid rugs the steward wrapped so deftly about them.

Upon the other side of Paul was a chair with a handsome rug folded on it, a large box of chocolates and several new novels. Before she looked at the name upon it, Polly felt it would be "Miss Rand," and soon the lady herself appeared and was snugly ensconced at Paul's elbows batting animatedly. Polly listened between paragraphs of her book.

"Oh, yes, I'm working. Magazine assignments. I'm going on with my music, too. Didn't know I sang, did you, Mr. Dawson? Well, I do. And mother has sold the old place down south, so we've a little money. I have a darling flat on Avenue Malesherbes—rented from a friend, who had to come home, or I'd never got it. You and your wife must come and see me. It'll be so cosy. I'm crazy about it. Paris is the only place, isn't it?"

As Violet rattled on, Polly felt more and more nettled. She rubbed her the wrong way, and she made her feel insignificant. Yet somehow she fascinated—even Polly. She personified the great world of self-reliance, knowledge, success. She knew how to meet all sorts of people. She understood men... How at ease she was!

Polly felt an increasing curiosity about the ring on Miss Rand's third finger and determined to learn its significance. So when some men came to drag Paul off for shuffle board, she urged and insisted that he go.

"I'm so interested in your work, Miss Rand," began Polly when they were alone, "and your cunning apartment. It is possible, then, for a girl to live independent in Paris and not—not—"

"—be talked about?" finished Violet briskly. "Of course it is, just as it is anywhere else. It all depends on the girl. I'm used to being independent and doing what I like. Besides, I have my maid—and my music which is in itself a sort of chaperone."

"It's better, I suppose, to study in Paris."

Miss Rand pursed her lips.

"Mm—yes. Especially in my case. If I stayed in New York," she flashed a curious smile at Polly, then looked down at her beautiful ring and began turning it round and round, "I should have to get married. Ned's a darling, of course, but—oh, well, I don't want to marry him till I have to."

"I—I don't believe I quite understand." Polly covered her growing dislike with a smile.

"No, my dear, you wouldn't." Violet spoke not unkindly. "You're the kind, bless your heart, who thinks a minister's words and a wedding ring perform magic. You feel that you and your man will automatically 'live happily ever after' like the princes in the fairy tale—just because you are married and have 'promised.'"

"As a matter of fact—" Miss Rand looked straight into Polly's indignant eyes—"marriage is the hardest job on earth. I'm cowardly enough to put it off till I'm through with the other things I want to do. Then I'll feel better equipped to court my husband."

"Court?" Polly had only breath enough left to whisper.

"Certainly—court him. Court him and hold him. It's a constant struggle: that is unless you are content to be just a drab little wife. That's where the French women are so wise. They know a wife must be fascinating, not only sweet and good. They know they must constantly court their husbands—or some other woman will!"

Polly could not forget the conversation. It hammered at her heart all the rest of the day and far, far into the night.

FAME, LOVE, MATRIMONY! SHERIFF AS CUPID

Mrs. W. G. Hutton

Little Rock, Ark., Jan 20.—(By NEA Service)—This is the story about the sheriff who pursued a girl until he caught her. And then he "locked her up," for life.

But it's all Dan Cupid's fault, so let's let him tell about it.

Says Dan:

I watched Irene Galvin rise to fame as a musical comedy star. She was a pretty miss, and she sang her way into the hearts of audiences throughout the southwest. My heart was one of them.

Then I happened on Sheriff "Big Bill" Hutton of Little Rock.

This was when he viewed Miss Galvin as leading lady with the Galvin Musical Comedy company. His interest in her interested me.

Miss Galvin shortly left Little Rock—but she returned at my beckoning.

Oh, yes, I get them all—sooner or later.

Today Irene is Mrs W. G Hutton and she's starring as "the lady of the house" in "Big Bill's" home.

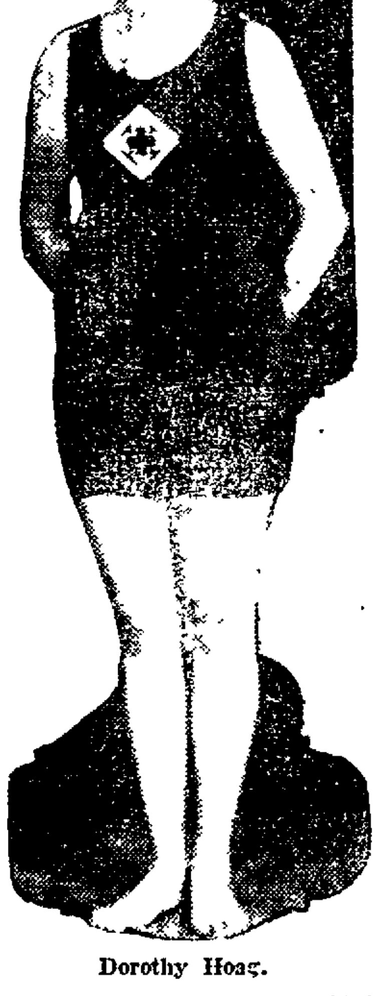
Men Swimmers Crown Her as Queen Of Porpoises

Dubuque, Ia., Jan 20—By NEA Service—Queen of Porpoises!

She is Dorothy Hoag, 20 year old member of the American Red Cross life saving corps.

The honor was bestowed upon her by the University of Iowa life saving corps. And lest this honor pass lightly by, it is well to mention that the Porpoise club is an exclusive men's organization. The membership is open only to the most graceful and the best swimmers in the Red Cross corps.

Miss Dorothy is to preside at the annual aquatic meet to be held in Iowa City at the University of Iowa.



Dorothy Hoag.

Like swimming? She says it's the best sport of all.

Her dad, Dr. Hoag, has had a heap to do with her water ability, for back in her teens, Dorothy had a fully equipped gymnasium in her own home. And father used to tip daughter off to all the rudiments of this that and the other stroke.

Then, in college, C. E. Daubert, swimming instructor, carried on.

Mother Hoag also deserves credit. She is president of the Dubuque Women's Red Cross life saving corps and one of the crack swimmers of the outfit.

In the Hoag family it's a case of like father and mother—like daughter. Only daughter seems to have the edge.

WOMAN BURGOMASTER.

The first woman burgomaster of Belgium, recently appointed by King Albert is Mlle. Keignaerts, who has been chosen to the office in a little village near Ypres.

First Woman's Bank Opens in Cleveland

The first woman's bank of Ohio, catering especially to women, was recently opened in Cleveland. It is capitalized at $1,000,000. Mrs. Flora Harroff Andrews is the president and women alone are employed to guide the policies of the institution.

GUY BATES POST GOES IN MOVIES

Guy Bates Post, the foremost figure on the English speaking stage, and who was seen last year at the Auditorium in "The Masquerader," has at last become inured to the lure of the "movies" and will be seen soon in "The Masquerader." Post has appeared in this play 2,000 times on the speaking stage. The picture will be released through the Associated First National Pictures.

KEEPING SALT DRY.

A few grains of rice placed in the bottles when filling with salt will prevent it from becoming damp and lumpy. The rice will absorb the moisture, keeping the salt dry and fine.

LOPSIDED PICTURES.

Pictures are kept from becoming crooked on the wall by merely twisting the wire once or twice around the hooks.

FORMER SENATOR'S DAUGHTER WEDS AIR SERVICE LIEUTENANT

One of the most charming brides of the winter is Mrs. Eugene Luther Vidal, whose wedding was one of the social events of the season in Washington. She was Nina Gore, daughter of ex-Senator and Mrs. Thomas P. Gore, of Oklahoma. The groom is a lieutenant in the U. S. Air Service.

NURSE TELLS HOW SHE BUILT UP HER HUSBAND-STOPPED COUGH

He Was Sick In Bed Very Weak —Cough Worried Her.

GAVE HIM HYPO-COD HE RETURNS TO WORK

"My husband suffered with a terrible cough and was in a rundown depleted condition. His condition was so bad that he was in bed when I finally decided that He must take a bottle of Earle's Hypo-Cod which I secured at the drug store. He is one of those men who never want to take medicine and only what the doctor prescribes but I told him doctors prescribed the very same thing—except that it cost more in a prescription. He took it alright because he was a pretty sick man and you should have seen the way it built him up. That cough he had vanished just like I knew it would and right away he became stronger. The Hypo-Cod took right hold of him and restored his strength, appetite, energy and whole system. He is now back at work and feeling mighty fine," declared Mrs. W. H. Patterson, 40 1-2 W. Market St., Akron, O., (for many years a popular nurse in Akron.)

Earle's Hypo-Cod knocks out a cough and cold, bronchitis and similar conditions and seems to strengthen the lungs—thereby aiding nature to throw off such trobles and ward them off all winter long. Thousands have discovered that they can build themselves up quickly with this splendid tonic and when their system is in vigorous condition coughs and colds vanish and stay away. It is rundown people who are always catching colds, coughs and more serious complaints. Don't be one of those who are always sick. Build yourself up thoroughly once with this new more powerful and modern tonic.

The finest feeling in all the world is to know that your system is full of stamina, vigor and disease resisting vitality. You can laugh at changeable weather and germs. You visit the sick without fear of contagion. You walk, talk, sleep, eat and act like a normal human being should. You get more joy and pleasure out of work and play.

Experts assert that Earle's Hypo Cod is the most powerful and effective as well as palatable reconstructive tonic made. It is so pleasant to take thousands of mothers give it to the children. It builds them up, and every one at this season of the year should avoid sickness by putting and keeping their system in the pink of condition. Come down to the drug store tonight and get a bottle of the genuine Earle's Hypo-Cod in Orange colored carton.

THE MAN WHO LOOKS VIGOROUS

Good red blood is the only sure foundation of Permanent Health and Vigor

Good color, bright eyes, solid flesh, erect bearing are dependent upon rich red blood. If your blood is not up to the mark your general health can not be. Late hours, eating the wrong foods, working indoors, fatigue, affect the blood. So many people eat well and take exercise, yet never seem to improve in health. Gude's Pepto-Mangan taken regularly for a while gives the blood that richness and redness that produces bounding health and vigor. It is a simple, natural way to get well and strong. SUNDAY ATTRACTION AT THE AUDITORIUM.

Sunday at the Auditorium theater Lon Chaney, clever screen star, comes in "The Ace of Hearts," a Gouvernor Morris feature.

MARIE PREVOST AT THE ALHAMBRA.

Sunday at the Alhambra theater, "Don't Get Personal" with Marie Prevost is the attraction.

VAUDEVILLE AND PICTURES TONIGHT

Vaudeville and pictures will make up the program at the Auditorium theater for three days beginning today. A [illegible] number in "According To Law," or "The Love Lawyer," a singing and dancing act taht is said to be one of the reigning vaudeville features on the Keith circuit. Prof. Andrews and his bear family are back and will be seen in stunts that are simply wonderful.

On Saturday the children of Newark will be able to see these wonderful trained animals at which time a reduction will be made so that they might come. The big feature picture "The Inside of the Cup" is also shown.

Bryant Washburn in "The Road to London."

DAVID POWELL IS FAVORITE SCREEN ARTIST.

David Powell, the starred player in "The Mystery Road," is an artist of international reputation. Although born in Scotland, he is thoroughly American, he winning his spurs as a screen player in this country. He supported Elsie Ferguson in "Under the Greenwood Tree" and "His Parisian Wife," Irene Castle in "The Firing Line," and Mae Murray in "Idols of Clay." He also played important roles in other Paramount pictures and sometime ago he was sent to England to head the Paramount company in London. His first appearance in a British-made Paramount picture was in "Appearances" in which he had the leading role. In "The Mystery Road," he is seen as the son of an English Earl, who becomes the central figure in a tragic story filled with scenes that thrill. This picture is seen tonight last times.

TRAMP EXTRAS IN PICTURE WIN STRIKE.

Perhaps the first strike for higher wages ever pulled off in a motion picture studio by extras, occurred during the filming of "The Inside of the Cup" a Cosmopolitan picture released by Paramount, which will be shown at the Auditorium theater starting yesterday. The extras in question were 'hobos' tramps and lower East Side wastrels of New York who take part in the mob scenes in this remarkable picture.

To add realism to the scenes, and to obtain the necessary types, Director Albert Capellani instructed Edward Pennell, his assistant, and casting director Connelly to scour the Bowery and employ a score of men at five dollars a day each. The men were to lend realism to a Bowery lodging house scene. Most of them hadn't seen the color of a five dollar bill for years and the required complement was obtained without difficulty.

But when the tramps were ordered to appear in the scene, part of which already had been filmed, they struck for $7.50 a day. Rather than hold up the production, Director Capellani agreed to the raise and when the day's work was finished, the Bolshevists were discharged.

A VOTE OF THANKS DUE BRYANT WASHBURN.

Three cheers for Bryant Washburn, who has the courage of his convictions! We have often wondered why specific locations have not more frequently been used as the background for a story, with credit given to the scenery as generously as to the actors.

Bryant Washburn went to London with a director, a cameraman, and a rattling good scenario all about an American with pep who rescues a beautiful English girl from an undesirable marriage, and wins her himself. He came back with "The Road to London," the Associated Exhibitors feature shown yesterday at the Grand theater, a comedy drama he has a right to be chesty about—only he isn't that sort.

Not a single scene was photographed in a studio. The backgrounds is a fascinating ever changing panorama of London buildings, streets and squares everyone has heard of, of the Thames river as it winds through city and country, of wonderful English roads stretching out through beautiful rose-bowered suburbs, of old Windsor Castle whose ruins tell sad stories.

"The Road to London" will have it's last showing at the Grand theater tonight.

MAN AND NATURE BATTLE IN "WOMEN WHO WAIT."

A story that smacks of the tang and roar of the ocean is "Women Who Wait," the Playgoers-Pathe feature presenting Marguerite Clayton, Creighton Hale and George MacQuarrie at the Grand theater Sunday only.

Written by Edward Russell, it tells the romantic and gripping story of the love of two brothers for the same girl. It depicts the struggle between the two men—one cruel and treacherous, the other gentle and honest. It depicts the struggle of the woman torn between hatred for her husband and love for the man who was the victim of her husband's deceit.

It shows a tremendous battle between the two men and the woman and the elements—strong human beings rendered frail, puny and helpless by comparison with the indomitable fury of Nature—the sheets of pouring rain swirled about by a high wind; the sea battered and lashed by the storm into a frenzy. And then the climax in which the two brothers at last come to a show down, in which justice rewards the innocent and punishes the guilty.

NAOMI CHILDERS HAS BIG PART IN "COURAGE."

"Courage," a Sidney Franklin production, with Naomi Childers and Sam de Grasse in the leading roles, will be the feature attraction at the Alhambra theater for two days, commencing Friday. "Courage" is an adaptation of Andrew Soutar's powerful novel of the same name. Naomi Childers has the role of the plucky little wife whose wrongfully imprisoned husband directs a great industry from behind his bars and helps his country in the winning of the war. He is released when the real culprit confesses, and the courage of his wife is rewarded not alone by her reunion with her husband but also by the happy culmination of the romance of their son. Others in the cast of this Associated First National attraction are Lionel Belmore, Adolphe Menjou, Alec B. Francis, Ray Howard, Gloria Hope and Charles Hill Mailes.

BIG DRAMATIC OFFERING TUESDAY.

Tuesday night, January 24th, The Provincetown Players presentation of Eugene G. O'Neill's drama, "The Emperor Jones," with Charles Gilpin in the title role, under the management of Adolph Klauber, comes to the Auditorium theater, for one night only. We have heard a great deal about "The Emperor Jones" since its production in New York last season and now we are to judge for ourselves of the quality of Gilpin's acting and the merit of O'Neill's play. Something interesting may always be expected of O'Neill. He never runs in the beaten path. His play "Beyond the Horizon," a winner of the Pulitzer prize was an unusual piece of writing. "The Emperor Jones" it is said is still more unique and made particularly striking by the acting of Charles Gilpin. O'Neill and Gilpin made stage history last season in New York—O'Neill for his winning of the Pulitzer prize, by the daring of his "Emperor Jones" and by the fact at one time he had three plays in production at the same time on Broadway. Gilpin won recognition for his work in "The Emperor Jones" for which he was starred—his second New York appearance. He was elected fourth highest on a list of ten of the greatest contributors to dramatic art of the season.

PURE OIL GETS HALF BILLION BBLS. IN MEXICO

Newark stockholders of the Pure Oil company will be interested in the following concerning the Texas holdings of the company: "Production of the Mexia, Texas field during the first ten days of January aggregated 1,555,000 barrels, of which 498,000 barrels or 31.6 per cent of the total was yielded by Humphreys-Pure Oil wells. The average of 155,500 barrels daily for the field and 49,800 barrels daily for the major interest in this field represents actual runs to tank storage or over loading racks. The proportion of production by Humphreys-Pure Oil wells during this period compares with 26 per cent during the last half of December and indicates an increasing trend by February First may show these interests as producing over 50 per cent of the field total. Within a period of five or six months, the drilling campaign of the Humphreys-Pure Oil interests will increase their production as proportions relative to their acreage, which is estimated as eighty per cent of the field.

"At the present time, the Humphreys-Pure Oil interests have 44 wells drilling and 10 rigging up. These locations are practically all in what has been defined as big pay area. Developments are following fairly closely the lines which geologists, particularly those of the F. Julius Fohs organization, have generally agreed upon, and with the latest drilling, reveal the fact that the big well territory is more largely in the hands of the Humphreys-Pure Oil interest than at first anticipated."

LEGAL NOTICE.

The State of Ohio,
Licking County, ss.
In the Court of Common Pleas.

In the matter of the sale of the Real Estate of The Welsh Congregational Church of Granville, Ohio James Davis and Thomas James, as Trustees of The Welsh Congregational Church of Granville, Ohio, Plaintiffs.

vs.

The Welsh Congregational Church of Granville, Ohio, Defendant.

Notice is hereby given that on the 5th day of January 1922, James Davis and Thomas James, as Trustees of The Welsh Congregational Church of Granville, Ohio, filed their petition in the Court of Common Pleas of Licking County, Ohio, alleging that said church is weak in number and is unable to maintain regular services, and desires to discontinue its organization as a church and to sell the real estate held by the petitioners in trust for said church on which the church edifice or meeting house is situated, and pray for authority to sell the same. Said real estate is described as follows:

Situated in the County of Licking and States of Ohio, and in the Village of Granville, and more particularly described as follows:

Being all of Lot No. 241 in said Village of Granville according to the new numbering of lots in said Village and being the same real estate conveyed to Roderic Jones and others, as trustees predecessors in trust to the plaintiffs by I. N. Clemens and E. L. Clemens by deed dated February 10, 1863 and recorded in Volume 58 of the Deed Records of Licking County, Ohio, at page 590 except therefrom, however, 61 feet and 8 inches off of the west end of said lot, said excepted parcel being the same real estate conveyed by the said Roderic Jones and others as trustees to John L. Jones by deed dated Sept. 2, 1863 and recorded in Volume 84 of the Deed Records of Licking County, Ohio, at page 523.

That said petition also alleges that they desire to divide the proceeds of said sale after paying the costs of this proceedings and the debts of the church equally between The Plymouth Congregational Church, Newark, Ohio, and The Central South Welsh Congregational Association, and prays for authority to do the same.

Said petition and this cause will be for hearing in said Court on and after the fourth publication of this notice, or not later than the 14 day of February 1922.

JAMES DAVIS & THOMAS JAMES,
Trustees of The Welsh Congregational Church of Granville, Ohio.

Moore's Air Tights! Cook Stoves!! Gas Stoves and Heaters!!!

TWO or three times in every year a furniture store must "clean house" in order to make room for the new stock that is coming in. This is exactly what we are doing. Our large stock of stoves occupies a great deal of space and the time has now come when we must have the room. Therefore we have slashed stove prices at 20%, 25% and 33 1-3%.

Included in this special selling are the Famous Moore's Air Tight Heaters. The heater that burns all the coal and ash and provides a third more heat than the ordinary type of stove. This is made possible by the Moore's Slotted Fire Bowl which causes superheated air to pass over the radiating surface of the coal. This unites with the smoke and soot causing this mixture to burn in the dome of the heater.

Our liberal discount offer includes combination coal and gas ranges at reductions of 25%.

It is now possible to buy all our high grade gas heaters and stoves at 20% off.

Please remember this: Our special selling will be in effect for ONE WEEK ONLY and in that time we expect to make a clean sweep. We earnestly urge you to buy early in order to procure just the style and kind of stove you desire.

LOUISVILLE HAS UNIQUE SHOP

Print Shop for Publications for Blind Has Odd Type Setting Machines and Queer Devices.

Louisville, Ky., Jan 20.—Louisville has a printshop such as is found nowhere else in the United States. Its books for elementary grades weigh fifteen pounds; its type setting machines have only six keys as compared with the 90-odd combinations possible in the average type setting machine, and a hammer and nail punch are the tools of the proof reader. Miss Susan B. Merwin, superintendent, says all this is true, and she probably knows.

The publishing house with these queer devices is the American Printing House for the Blind, and because of its publications thousands of blind persons read what otherwise would not be available to them.

The Federal government pays the house $50,000 annually and for this amount books are provided for 56 schools for the blind throughout the country. As an indication of the volume of work put out by the House, the report for the last fiscal year shows that 3,489,786 pages of printed matter and 12,58[illegible] bound volumes were produced, and in addition, 4,211 pamphlets and 1 044 copies of musical selections were printed.

The type setting machines have only six keys because the alphabet for the blind comprises six points or dots with each letter consisting of from one to six dots, in different combinations.

Sheet brass is used in the machines, the words being punched in the metal. The plates go from the machines to the proof reader, who removes all mistakes with a hammer and a nail punch.

Plates then are sent to the press room, where they are placed on cylinder presses which use paper that has been immersed in water for 24 hours so that the texture will not be torn.

Lack of a single code complicates the work of the establishment, Miss Merwin says. There are three codes—the New York Point, the American Braille and the revised Braille. Type of all of these systems is used at the plant.

JOY TO WEATHER PROPHETS.

Statistics prove that eighty-five per cent of the predictions of the Weather Bureau are correct. About two hundred regular observation stations throughout the United States and West Indies make simultaneous daily forecasts which, issued daily by telephone, wireless and mail from forecast-distributing centers are counted of special value to many agricultural, shipping and private business interests. New duties of the Weather Bureau include the issuing of special forecasts for aviators and of special reports on road conditions for the benefit of the motor-trucking interests.

LICKING COUNTY MEN WIN HONORS AT O. S. U.

Glen Kreider of Newark was one of the eight upperclassmen at Ohio State University chosen to enter the final oratorical contest which will be held by Forum, the public speaking and debating society, in February. In this contest only the upper classmen are eligible and Kreider in winning the honor of competing in the final contest was pitted against the best college speakers from over the state.

Myron Powelson of Etna, another Licking county boy at the university was chosen to act as the freshman class orator at the contest which was held in Page hall at the University last week.

In athletics Licking county also stands out prominently among the other counties represented at the university by having H. G. Alberry of Pataskala, a member of the track team, initiated into the varsity "O" association last week. Twenty eight men representing all branches of collegiate sports were initiated into the association. Young Alberry was a member of the track team last year and placed well in all the meets in which he was entered including the Big Six.

Quick Relief for Stomach Trouble

Money Back If Dr. Jackson's Digestive and Liver Powder Doesn't Do It. Free Sample Sent On Request.

Dr. A. L. Jackson practiced medicine in Ohio during thirty busy years. A great many of his patients were sufferers from stomach ills, and for these he evolved Dr. Jackson's Digestive and Liver Powder, using it for 30 years in his practice.

Dr. Jackson's ripe experience taught him the superiority of powder over tablets, capsules and pills. The stomach does not have to digest a powder. When it reaches that organ immediate action is possible. The swift work of Dr. Jackson's Digestive and Liver Powder proves this. In cases of acute indigestion it usually brings immediate relief. Ordinary evils of indigestion—sour and gassy stomach, heartburn, bloating—are usually banished by the very first dose. If not satisfied with results after using the first box your money will be cheerfully refunded. At most druggists 60c. Send for free sample Jackson Medicine Company, Zanesville, Ohio.

KU KLUX KLAN FACES CHARGE OF A MURDER

Originally Fifteen Members Were Held for Murder.

State Appoints Officials to Take Charge of Investigation.

Ardmore, Okla., Jan. 20.—A case which, in the words of State Attorney General S. P. Freeling, "will mean the life or death of the Ku Klux Klan in Oklahoma," will be called here today when eleven of Carter county's most prominent citizens are to be arrainged before Judge Thomas W. Champion in district court for trial on charges of murder.

The defendants, all well-known business and professional men of the county, were among seventeen arrested following an attack by nine masked men upon Joe Carroll at his home in Wilson the night of December 15, when three men, one of them Carroll, were fatally shot.

Originally, fifteen were held for murder and two as witness for the state but at subsequent sessions of the joint examining trial of seven of the men before Justice D. W. Butcher, the cases against four, one of them a Baptist minister, were dismissed on motion of the prosecution that no evidence was at hand to connect them with the affair.

On this night in mid-December, the state charges, more than 100 men from Ardmore and the surrounding county, all masked and with buckets of tar and pillows of feathers, gathered in a pasture just five miles south of Wilson and later sent eight of their number in two automobiles under the leadership of C. G. Sims, Ardmore police detective, to "get" Joe Carroll. A statement to authorities by one of the defendants shortly after his arrest was to the effect that Sims had persuaded the band of men to accompany him that night "to round up several 'wet' car dealers and bootleggers."

Unable to find Carroll's residence, the eight men then called at the home of John Smith in Wilson and one of their number, a relative of Smith, made him leave a sick bed and guide them to Carroll's house, telling him according to the testimony of Smith's wife at the preliminary hearing, that "you are forced to do it as I have been forced."

When the men called at Carroll's home he answered their summons to the front door and at their command to throw up his hands drew his revolver and wounded one of the men who attempted to wrest it from him.

Then amid the screams of women and shouts of men, a gun battle ensued, also participated in by Carroll's brother who lived next door. When the fierce exchange of rifle and pistol shots subsided and the masked men had fled in their automobiles, Carroll's lifeless body was picked up off his doorstep and John Smith, a few minutes later, was found on a street in Wilson, not far from the scene of the engagement, suffering from bullet wounds which within two hours caused his death.

The following day, shortly before noon, Sims' dead body clad in a suit of khaki unionalls, was found lying in the pasture where twelve hours before he had planned to administer punishment to Carroll for his alleged activities as a bootlegger.

Jeff Smith, the man who was wounded in the affray, guided the authorities to the pasture when Sims' body was discovered and told them, it was brought out at the preliminary trial, that the place had frequently been used as a meeting place for the "Citizens' League or Ku Klux Klan." He is one of the defendants in the case.

The custodian of a local lodge hall, in which the Ku Klux Klan rents rooms, testified at the hearing that on the night of the killings, one of the defendants and another man whom he did not recognize, left the "property" room rented by the Ku Klux Klan with bundles under their arms. The defendant admitted in a signed statement to authorities that he was one of those who later met in the pasture.

Efforts of the prosecution then were directed toward establishing the Ku Klux Klan's connection with the incident and the examination of witnesses ended abruptly when Frank Bourland, who, the lodge hall custodian testified, paid rent on the Ku Klux Qlan rooms, refused to testify as to his connection with the organization. He also decided to answer the prosecution's query as to what a large box in the "propery" room contained. Nineteen questions, all pertaining to the Ku Klux Klan, were asked him and he refused to answer all but one.

A sensation was produced at the first day of the hearing when Walter Carroll, Joe Carroll's brother, arose while on the witness stand accused Ray L. Beede, local automobile dealer, and one of the defendants, of killing his brother during the fight.

Later, in a signed statement before a notary public at Wilson, Carroll repudiated his testimony at the hearing and declared he knew nothing of the identity of any persons participating in the attack on his brother. The following day, however, he issued another signed statement here, denying that he could not identify any of the party of masked men and declaring that his testimony at the hearing "stood."

Due to conditions here, growing out of an investigation by the attorney general's department of alleged lax law enforcement in Carter county, a committee of local citizens called upon Governor Robertson and asked that he act inthe case. This resulted in the commissioning of Attorney-General Freeling to take personal charge of the prosecution of the case, superceding local county officers.

The case has attracted a wide interest throughout the state and the court room is the same in which Clara Smith Hamon was tried last spring for the murder of Jake L. Hamon, republican national committeeman and wealthy oil man.

Present intentions of the prosecution, it was indicated, are to try seven of the defendants jointly and the remaining four, who requested severances, separately.

The defendants are: Doctor E. C. Harlow, J. A. Gilliam, Ray L. Beede, C. G. Whitechurch, W. L. T. Hilton, Jeff Smith, J. D. (Curley) Smith, Tom Hailes, J. A. Pitts Dan Ridpath, Jr., and Frank Cardwell.

When the other fellow is trying to do you, do as you expect to be done by.

FAIRY TALES.

"About the time a girl loses her faith in fairy tales," said the cynic, "she begins to believe in love."

"Yes," replied the optimist, "and although her lover whispers sweet nothings in her ear, she has great hopes that eventually they will mean a great deal."

YEARS OF STOMACH TROUBLE GONE

Now Enjoys Best of Health—Eats Anything He Likes.

Thousands suffer just as this man did before he found the wonderful remedy Nerv-Worth. It acts quickly to aid the digestive system, neutralizing acids that cause gas and heartburn. It stimulates the liver, regulates the bowels and gives a general invigorating tone to the entire system. John J. Grassel of Washington, Pa., says, "For four years I had serious stomach trouble. Would throw up my food almost as soon as I ate it. I became very thin and weak and slept very little. Doctors and medicines seemed to do me no good until I tried Nerv-Worth. Ever since then I eat and sleep well, have no trouble with my stomach at all—eat anything I want and enjoy it. Haven't been bothered with sour stomach or gas bloat since the first bottle." All first class druggists sell Nerv-Worth at $1.00 a bottle. You will always find it in stock at T. J. [illegible] and Erman's drug stores in this city. Try a bottle. Your money back if not satisfied after using the first bottle.

DEATH COMES AFTER 70TH WEDDING DAY

On January 13, Mr. and Mrs. John Decker celebrated the 70th anniversary of their marriage. Thursday morning, at 1 o'clock, just six days later, death came to Mr. Decker, at his home in Millersport. He was aged 96 years.

That the separation may not be long seems evident owing to the serious illness of Mrs. Decker also.

POPE BENEDICT

Pope Benedict's relatives at Genoa and Piacenza.

The physicians gave their patient another examination shortly after noon, after which Dr. Marchiafava said the pope's condition was very grave, but not desperate. He thought the turning point would occur tonight.

After this examination of the vatican, cardinals gathered around the pope's bedside and kissed his hand, which lay on a cushion. At this time His Holiness was allowed to sit up in bed a few minutes. During the day the pope was given just enough nourishment to sustain him, all solid foods being withheld in order to allow his fever to subside.

Throughout the day there was an atmosphere of sadness in the antechamber as the cardinals filed in to seek news of the holy father's condition.

The Swiss guards stood at attention on the third floor of the huge palace and rigidly enforced orders for absolute silence. Scarlet-coated ushers were on hand everywhere, to prevent small groups from gathering about the attendant cardinals, whispering their hopes for the best.

IS SINKING RAPIDLY.

Paris, Jan. 20.—The Papal Nunclature here received a telegram from Rome shortly after 5 o'clock this afternoon saying that Pope Benedict was sinking rapidly.

OFFER PRAYERS FOR POPE.

Cleveland, Jan. 20.—All Catholic churches in the Cleveland diocese were called upon to devote one hour to prayer during the day for the welfare and recovery of Pope Benedict in telegrams sent to the 300 parishes in the diocese by Bishop Joseph Schrembs this morning. Bishop Schrembs led the hour of prayer in the cathedral here.

"SAVE GAS" IS DINNER SLOGAN

Gas Company Entertains 100 Guests at Dinner Cooked With 6½ Cents Worth of Fuel.

But 150 feet of gas was consumed in preparing the banquet which fed more than 103 guests at the dinner given by the Newark Natural Gas & Fuel company last night at the Pythian Temple.

According to the statement of the toastmaster Thomas H. Parkinson, the dinner was arranged to urge continued need of conservation of the natural gas.

For use in the dinner two and one half gallons of oysters, 30 pounds of lamb; three pecks of potatoes, 20 cans of peas, 10 gallons of coffee and salad dressing were cooked and 20 apple pies weer baked, with the use of only 150 feet of gas at a cost of 6 1-2 cents.

The tables were attractively arranged being centered with baskets filled with pink carnations and narcissus. A menu of six coures was served.

Rev. Carlos H. Hanks, delivered the invocation and L. F. Carl, Newark manager of the company was host. Thomas H. Parkinson presided as toastmaster.

"The meeting is to continue a campaign we started when we asked for an increase" Parkinson said, "and that is the campaign for conservation or the efficient use of gas. The expense of a thing is not in what we use but what we waste."

Mayor S. S. Orr was unable to be present. H. H. Scott, president of council took his subject.

W. I. Lewis of the Chamber of Commerce spoke on "What Natural Gas Means to a Community," telling of how man first feared fire, then worshipped it, and then came to learn its value.

S. O. Riggs member of council told of the Findlay field and the discovery of the gas there. He told of the tremendous waste at that time, as it was thought the supply was inexhaustible.

H. F. Moninger, who replaced Superintendent O. J. Barnes on the program and took his subject "A Better Conservation of Our Natural Resources" outlined the waste that he had known in his boyhood. Great forests had been levelled and burned he said, and this was but the forerunner of a waste that became tremendous.

Victor Walk, head of the Trades and Labor Assembly spoke a few words in the absence of George H. Hamilton who was to have spoken on "Labor's Part in the Development of Natural Resources." Mr. Walk stated that without labor there would be no gas, as only labor had made possible the bringing it from the earth. "Labor appreciates conservation and admires the new stoves shown here tonight, but with the conditions surrounding the working man today he cannot buy the new stove. Labor is probably the greatest conserver of gas there is, as the laboring man must conserve for he is unable to pay for a waste of gas. It costs too much. You will always find that labor is the first to conserve, because it is a necessity."

James R. Fitzgibbon speaking on "Utility Regulation and Control," said that the time was at hand when there should be "less government in business and more business in government." He told how government control had originated through a railroad official's remark "the public be dammed," and said that "that one dam has become a great torrent."

Mrs. Emma Hickman, woman council member was unable to be present owing to illness and Mrs. A. B. Crawford as representative of the City Federation spoke briefly.

W. W. Davis spoke on "Our Lack of Appreciation of Natural Resources," and C. L'H. Long spoke on the "Co-Operation Between the Server and Served."

EXPECT SALE OF TRACE RESTAURANT SOON

Clarence Thompson of the firm of Meier and Thompson, stated this afternoon that several prospective purchasers for the Trace restaurant have been here and are considering its purchase. Since the filing of the petition of the Deacon company asking for a receivership for the restaurant, the firm of Meier and Thompson has been conducting the business and has attempted to sell it.

Restaurant men from Canal Dover, Shelby and other towns have been here and inspected the place although nothing definite has been arranged. It is understood that the price asked is $6,500, an amount sufficient to pay all of the outstanding bills.

Aggamemnon Steven of Portsmouth was here today looking the business over and he is considered as a purchaser. He has wired his partner at Portsmouth to come here to investigate. A sale is expected within a few days.

A real estate man of Newark, acting for a client whose name is not disclosed, has also been negotiating for the purchase.

BEING A GOOD COOK IS NOT ALL.

The preparation of food requires knowledge and habits above and beyond being able to prepare food well.

It is essential that the housewife who buys food and attends to its preparation should have this knowledge.

The care of food after its purchase from cleanly markets is highly important. The experts of the Federal government have this to say "Care of food in the home is not only necessary to economical living, but it also is essential to the protection of life itself."

Any of our readers can have the free booklet on this subject prepared by the Department of Agriculture. Just fill out and mail the coupon below, enclosing two cents in stamps for return postage. Print name and address or be sure to write plainly.

Chicago Grain Review.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—Cold weather and lack of snow protection for the winter crop gave new strength to the wheat market today in the early trading. Sentiment contnued also to be influenced by talk of a prospective shortage of domestic supplies and by assertions that Europe must buy large quantities of grain in the world market. Dealings here, however, lacked volume as compared with yesterday. Opening quotations which varied from unchanged figures to half cent higher with May $1.14 1-4 to $1.14 1-2 and July $1.02 3-4 to $1.02 7-8, were followed by slight gains all around.

Corn and oats were a trifle firmer, helped by wheat strength. Corn started unchanged with May 52 5-8 to 53 3-4.

Oats after opening unchanged to a shade off, May 39 1-8 to 39 1-4, held close to the initial range.

Provisions tended upward with hog values.

Wall Street.

New York, Jan. 20.—Gulf States Steel resumed its sensational advance at the opening of today's stock market. The first transaction showed a three point rise to 85, duplicating yesterday's maximum price. After reacting one point the stock rallied to 87, a new high record. Replogle, which is prominently mentioned in connection with one or more proposed mergers of independent steel companies, suddenly shot forward on a succession of dealings to 41, a gain of 10 5-8 points. Within the first 15 minutes, Crucible, Midvale, Vanadium, Republic and Colorado Fuel registered of 1 1-2 and five points. Other stocks, including prominent rails and specialties, were irregular.

Approximately 600,000 shares changed hands during the morning and the character of the dealings was reminisicent of the exciting period. Gulf States rose to 90 1-2; but broke exactly 20 points on denial that Ford interests were seeking control. Replogle reacted seven points to 35, wiping out the greater part of its gain and related shares eased one to four points. Sugars, shippings and textiles were among the few other issues to display more than ordinary strength, rails, oils and coppers becoming heavy. Gulf States rebounded to 78 1-2 before noon, other steels rallying one to two points. Call money opened at five per cent.

Boston Wool Market.

Boston, Jan. 20.—The Commercial Bulletin tomorrow will say of the wool market:

"The wool industry of the country is groping blindly forward, the limited stocks of wool available forcing prices steadily upward on a moderate demand from the mills. Manufacturers are loath to name prices on the heavy weight season goods until they have some idea of what they must base their tariff cost on.

"The foreign markets are very buoyant. Some contracting has been reported from Nevada on the shep's back at 21 to 23, although it is stated that the growers are now asking anywhere from 25 to 30 cents for their wools and matters have come more or less to an impasse."

THE WOMAN OF POISE.

Once a rarity, is now to be observed and admired upon every hand. Indeed, no other woman can flourish long in the midst of this modern, complicated life. In the home, in business, in social life, the woman who is serene and confident wins, while the nervous, frustrated individual wastes her talents and gets nowhere. Of course poise is dependent mainly upon sound health and steady nerves. If you feel that you are being kept back in this way, why not turn to that great woman's remedy Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which was manufactured from a thorough understanding of the nervous system of women?

THOROUGHBREDS WINTERING AT LOUISVILLE PARK

Racers Are Valued at $1,000,000 By Their Owners.

Madden String Contains Several Likely Youngsters Without Names.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 20.—Thoroughbreds, valued by their owners at more than $1,000,000 are in winter quarters at Douglas Park and Churchill Downs here.

Included among them are the highly-bred youngsters in the stables of John E. Madden, the horses trained by Alex Gordon for "Bud" Fisher, the cartoonist, the two-year-olds of the Jones Brothers and many other well-known thoroughbreds.

Because of the open winter in Louisville, the youngsters, which became two-year-olds in January, already have begun their first racing lessons.

The Madden string contains several likely youngsters, which as yet are unnamed, but which are by such sires as Friar Rock, Ormondale, Hessian, The Finn and Sir Martin. Mr. Madden, it is said, considers his great colt, Surf Rider, as a likely contestant for the Kentucky Derby. Last season this colt showed up well and had a way of sticking to his task the entire distance.

Surf Rider started only eight times, won six times, finished second once and third once, winning $16,430. Because of being a gelding, he will be barred from several of the richest three-year-old races but will be eligible for the Derby.

Sporting Blood, which last season won four races and [illegible], is at the Fisher stable [illegible] race track followers [illegible] better. Included [illegible] last year was the [illegible] championship three-year-old [illegible] stakes.

The Dick Finnell colt, Violinist, is regarded as Fisher's entry in the Derby. Violinist has filled out well this winter and his trainer believes he will have a good chance to win the "blue ribbon" of the American turf.

Included in Fisher's string of two-year-olds are five fillies and seven colts. Trainer Gordon particularly likes Broom[illegible], the Broomstick-Embroidery filly [illegible] the Dick-Finnell-Diamond [illegible] colt looks promising. Diamond [illegible] is another that is considered [illegible] good chance this season. [illegible] colt by Sunstar-M[illegible] is another colt [illegible] favorable attention.

THINKS PURCHASE OF M'INNIS BIG THING

Cleveland, Jan. 20.—[illegible] Dunn, president of the American League club, thinks the deal whereby the Indians acquired Jack McInnis, star first baseman from the Boston Americans, is the biggest thing he has done since he purchased Tris Speaker back in 1916.

"McInnis is one of the marvels of baseball," said Dunn. "He is bound to prove a tower of strength to our club on the defensive, save us many a ball game by his plays and I'm not so sure he won't hit as hard as the next one.

"With McInnis to bolster up our infield, I feel certain that the Indians are destined to win the 1922 pennant."

DICKERSON'S TEAM FINALLY LOSES ONE

The T. T. volley ball league went into action again last night at the Y. M. C. A. staging three games. Both the Dickersons and the Johnsons squad had an even number of players on each side and a grand battle took place therein. The Johnson's grabbed the first game and lost out in the second. The last game was a hummer, both teams had a tie score up to the very last point at which time the Johnsons slipped one over on the Dickersons, this giving the Johnsons the victory.

Next Week's Games.

Tuesday: Midland vs. Phi Delta Kappa; Heisey vs. American Legion. Thursday: Printers vs. Burke Golf, Heath vs. Business College.

The double header in the Y. M. C. A. Industrial league last night was a lop-sided affair. While the first contest was certain to be so, the second game had all the possibilities of a good scrap.

Heiseys had a rollicking good time with the Business College team. The glass men played rings around the youngsters and at times had them so dazed they all stood still and watched. Only toward the latter part of the game did the Diamond H team make a spurt. Ninety points were hung up for a season's mark while the Business College registered 17.

For a few minutes after the opening of the Pure Oil and American Legion game it looked like the refinery boys were going to force the post team to the limit, but before the half ended the ex-service men found their stride and opened up the fire expected from a top-notcher. The game finally closed with the legion on the long end of the score, 52 to 27.

SPORT EVENTS LISTED IN U. S.

Many International Contests Will Be Held In America This Year; College Men in Clash.

New York, Jan. 20.—International events in many branches of sport will be held in the United States this year.

Two of the best known international trophies, the America's cup, for racing yachts and the polo cup, will not be in competition, but in their places be international college football games and six-meter yacht races.

McGill university of Montreal has scheduled a number of games to be played on the gridirons of eastern United States colleges, next season.

Team races for the British-American six-meter yacht cup will be sailed on Long Island Sound.

British power boat men also asked, issued another challenge for the Harmsworth trophy emblematic of the world's power boat championship.

The Davis cup, international tennis trophy, successfully defended by the American teaem last summer, expected attract the court stars of no less than twelve nations. Australia, whose youthful players showed so well last year, already has challenged. France, Spain, England, Argentina, India, Denmark, Canada, Czecho-Slovakia and other nations may challenge.

Golfing championship tournaments will prabably bring an unprecedented number of amateur and professional men and women players from England, Scotland, Canada and perhaps Australia.

Harvard and Pale, Cornell and Princeton, all are anxious for a renewal of the track and field meets with the combined Oxford and Cambridge team.

The two international aernauttical events on the program, the airplane races for the Pulitzer trophy and the flying boat races for the Curtiss [illegible] trophy will be held this fall [illegible] Detroit. French, English [illegible] airmen have been invited to compete in the Pulitzer race. The Curtiss trophy, offered before the war, has never been in competition.

Georges Carpentier of France, world's light heavyweight champion, will decide whether the United States is to have an international boxing [illegible]. The Frenchman is said to be desiring another match with Dempsey but the promoters say it would not pay in this country. So if Georges comes, as he most likely will, it will be for Tom Gibbons, of St. Paul, with whom he has been signed. And after Gibbons, if Georges is victor, he may be induced to meet Gene Tunney, A. E. F. and American light heavyweight champion.

MAY HAVE BOUTS FOR WOMEN SPECTATORS ONLY

Cleveland, Jan. 20.—Boxing bouts in Cleveland under a new ruling by Mayor Fred Kohler will be for men only, or for women only.

"In no case," the mayor said, "will be a bout permitted before a crowd of both men and women. Violation of the rule will mean revoking the license of the club."

"If women must see boxing bouts," the mayor said, "let them arrange to have them witnessed entirely by members of their own sex."

MITCHELL WOULD FIGHT LEONARD

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 20.—Richie Mitchell, the Milwaukee lightweight, who suffered a broken arm in his match with Ernie Rice, the English 135-pounder, here last fall, today is preparing for another campaign in the ring, which he hopes will result in another championship encounter with Benny Leonard.

Mitchell has started to rid himself of excess weight. During the period of idleness, he took on the physical proportions of a middleweight, but expects to be close to the 140-pounds nötch with in a month. Several matches for him already are pending.

Pinkey Mitchell, brother of Richie also is rounding into fighting condition. Pinkey was forced to cancel his match with Leonard here Jan. 2, at the last minute due to an attack of bursitis in the left arm. He expects to be in shape for a match early in February. The local promoters will attempt to induce Leonard to meet him.

PADDOCK TO SEEK RECORD FOR DASH

Salem, Ore., Jan. 20.—Charlie Paddock, University of Southern California sprinter who holds world's records in the 100 and 220-yard dash, probably will go after the 440-yard record of 47 2-5 seconds held by Ted Meredith, sometime the coming season, according to an announcement by Dean Cromwell, Paddock's trainer and track coach at the University of Southern California. Cromwell left Salem yesterday for Los Angeles to commence his spring track work at the university.

"Paddock does not know it yet, but I may allow him to try for a record in the 440 during the last part of the season this year," said Cromwell.

The "double," a small bronze coin worth half a fartheing and still minted in Guernsey, is the smaliest coin in circulation in Great Britain.

DENISON BEATS WOOSTER 32-27

Big Red Squad Makes Progress Toward State Conference Title—Livy's Crew Passes Well.

Granville, Jan. 20—Denison passed its second mile-stone on the road to the state conference championship when the Big Red, by a score of 32-27 won a splendid contested game with Wooster in the Cleveland Hall gymnasium at Granville last night. Machine-like play by both teams kept the score always relatively close. Accuracy in transmission and precision in locating the baskets were outstanding on both sides during the opening half. The interference, though not used always to best advantages, was at times employed by the [illegible] to check the Livingstonians in their advances. The Wooster cage-men, though swift moving, had not the ability to shoot from the great distances at which their opponents continually dropped the ball in the cage. Fumbles were scarce on both sides. Denison led, however, with only a 18-16 score at the end of the first half.

The Woosteries were outclassed during the second half. Failure to block Denison's passes were costly to the visitors. Denison brought into more frequent use her far-away shots. Her passes, too, were more sure and her advances were stronger. The crack of the pistol found Wooster fighting to the last ditch.

WHAT IS HAYS' JOB IN MOVIES

Nobody Knows Exactly, But He'll Be a Kind of Doctor.

He Needn't Care, So Long As His $100,000 Salary Is Paid.

(By JAMES W. DEAN.)

New York, Jan. 20.—(By NEA.)—Will Hays, postmaster general, is going into the movies—not as actor, director, producer or exhibitor. Then what? Nobody knows—exactly.

The movie is sick and needs a doctor.

The industry, not yet out of its swaddling clothes, was born with a gold eagle in its mouth, and swallowed the bird. The feathers are beginning to tickle its stomach.

Exhibitors have prescribed lower film rentals and reduced admissions. Producers, disagreeing, say film rentals cannot be lowered, that the cost of production prohibits that.

Neither party is willing to walk the floor with the squawking cheeild until it quiets down and becomes like other normal industries.

Hays is to take care of that. Producers, distributors and exhibitors are all willing to abide by the remedy he prescribes. His fee will be at least $100,000. Some reports place it at $110,000.

I have asked leaders of all branches of the industry just what Hays' duties will be. None of them could tell me. So I went to Carl Laemmle, president of Universal. He was one of the committee which asked Hays to accept the position.

"I did not talk to Hays as a representative of the producers' association," Laemmle said. "I acted as an individual who believes the motion picture industry needs a man of large caliber at the head of it."

"What will his duties be?" I asked.

"I don't know," Laemmle answered. "No one knows just what he is to do, but after he learns the ropes o fthe business he will find plenty to do. He is a big man, requiring a big price, and he certainly will find that place in the industry. There are many disputes in the industry now. They can only be settled by a man respected by all concerned. Hays is such a man."

"Who will pay the salary and how much?"

"The producers' association and it will be $100,000 a year as far as I know."

"If only producers pay the salary how will Hays have supervision over distributors and exhibitors?"

"That is something still to be worked out," Laemmle answered. "All branches of the industry must get together if squabbles are to be eliminated and the whole hearted respect of the public is to be gained."

"Then Hayes' position in the movies will correspond to that of Judge Landis in baseball, a dictator of principles, a man whose reputation shall redound to the credit of the industry?"

"That's just it," answered Laemmle.

To this writer that seems only part of it. Hays' duties as outlined at present are vague, indefinite. However, legislation on film tariff will soon be ready for passage in Congress and censorship bills will bob up in various states for years to come.

Hays is a politician. He understands political psychology as applied to polticians and the public alike.

Some in the industry believe that it was a serious mistake to select a politician of either party for the position. They refuse to be quoted, but they point out that Hays, having been identified as the one man more responsible for Republican successes the past few years than any other, will be antagonized in states where Democrats hold the whip hand.

They also fear that any move Hays makes will be met with the cry, "politics," whether or not it is of any political significance.

BAPTISTS HEAR CHURCH REPORTS

Year's Work is Renewed At Annual Meeting of Congregation Held Thursday Night.

Over 400 people were seated at the annual fellowship dinner held last night at the First Baptist church after which reports were made by the different committees concerning the work of the past year and outlining the work for the coming year. Judge John M. Swartz asked the blessing preceding the dinner and the event was presided over by Rev. Forest Fraser of the church. The Sunday school orchestra furnished music during the evening.

The membership committee, represented by B. M. Hendricks, reported that during the past 16 months 158 persons had been added to the church membership with a total now of 679.

The historian of the church, Dennis Brown, gave a short history of the past life of the church together with some of the plans for the coming years.

The Women's Home and Foreign Missionary societies were represented by Mrs. Harry Cross, who made a report on sums raised during the past six months for the benefit of both the poor at home and abroad.

Mrs. A. J. Baldwin spoke on behalf of the Ladies Aid society. She reported that during the past year the society had raised over $2,200 for the church and that larger plans were under way by the society to make the coming year one of more benefits than the past year. Mrs. Linnie Allen, who spoke on the activities of the choir during the past year and of future plans.

Four separate reports were made concerning the work of the Sunday school were given by William Burch on the enrollment department; Mrs. Clara Davis of the organized classes, Philip Jones concerning the basket ball team and other athletic activities, while Guy Hartshorn, the superintendent of the school spoke on the outlook of the school for next year. Following the reorganization of the Sunday school an attendance of over 300 has been reported every Sunday.

Frank Young then spoke on the activities of the young people's society during the past year and gave a short outline concerning its work for the coming year. He was followed by Mr. Hickmot, who spoke in the interest of the Boy Scout movement in the church. Plans for the coming year were made and it was announced that a new scout committee would be appointed to look after the scout interests.

D. B. Grubb then spoke on the activities of the Brotherhood during the past year and was followed by A. A. Taylor, who reported on the work of the benevolence committees, stating the amount was three times that raised during the preceding year.

A. H. Frame of the building committee and Fred Richards of the current expense committee then made the reports for those branches. It was reported that the building indebtedness during the past year had been reduced to less than $4,900, while the current expenses for the past year had been doubled, and these had been raised with a balance in the bank while all debts had been paid.

E. Carey Norris spoke on behalf of the trustees of the church, while J. R. Davis spoke in the interests of deacons.

During the evening solos were rendered by Mrs. Harry Cross, Miss Grace Fraser, Lois Brown, and Virginia Kopp. Mrs. Clyde Campbell and J. R. Richardson sang a duet. The accompanists were Ralph Allen and J. R. Richardson.

INSECTS BRING WARNING.

Buenos Aires.—When a flock of "alguaciles" fly into your office on a hot summer day in Buenos Aires you know that the "pampero" and a welcome drop in temperature are coming.

The "alguacil" is a South American insect which resembles the North American "darning needle" and the word in Spanish also means "constable." He lives up to his name by watching the rise of the prairie storms known as pamperos that sweep down on Buenos Aires from the pampas, and when he sees one coming flies into the city 100,000 strong to warn the inhabitants.

A Bible Thought for Today.

ALL ARE INVITED:—Come ye and let us go up to the mountain of the Lord, to the house of the God of Jacob; and He will teach us of his ways, and we will walk in his paths.—Isaiah 2:3.

THE REASON FOR HARD TIMES.

When the Republicans carried the election of 1920 they had a great deal to say about the difficult business conditions of that year and were making optimistic predictions about the improvement that would at once occur if that party was put in power. They have now been in power nearly a year.

It may be admitted that things are on the up grade, but they would have been just the same if the Democrats had stayed in power. The conditions causing depression at the time of the last election were world wide, and no political party could remove them at once.

One of the biggest causes for such depression was the failure to enter the League of Nations. If the Republican party had shown a little more willingness to compromise, some reservations would have been accepted to the league covenant, and the reconstruction of the world could have proceeded from that date.

But the isolation of this country tied up world recovery three years. With the economic conference about to be called to unite Europe on some plan for economic advance, the world is about where it would have been in 1919 if the league covenant had been ratified. With America out, those powers could not solve their difficulties alone. It was not so much that they needed the military and financial help of this country, as that they needed the sound advice of our statesmen. Our people were outside the bitter racial disputes of Europe, and could have mediated between all these warring rivalries and would have enabled these hostile countries to settle down for a combined pull.

With America out of the League, the European nations have been just running around in circles until they get nowhere. It all reacts on this country. Fortunately our people are beginning to see how our failure to co-operate has hurt, and the administration is reported as ready to send delegates to the new conference. It is now doing what should have been done in 1919.

NEVER MENTIONED.

The debate on the submarine at the Washington conference appeared at several points, to lead straight to one unescapable conclusion. But no delegate ventured to draw it. Secretary Hughes regretfully pointed out that it would be impossible to reach a universal and binding agreement about submarines. This was due not simply to the attitude of France and Italy. The main obstacle was the uncertainty what position would be taken on the question by the many nations not represented in the conference. A similar difficulty arose in connection with the suggestion that international law be recast so as to make a stringent ruling that outlaws submarine warfare. This was proposed by the Advisory Committee. But the Washington conference can neither make nor revise international law. That law is "jusgentium," the law of all nations. Where are all nations, and how is their voice to be uttered except through a League?

That word, however, cannot at present be so much as mentioned in Washington. Officials and delegates fly from it in fear and trembling. The general conviction seems to be that if any [illegible] man said League of Nations out loud in Washington the Monument would fall upon Memorial Hall and bury [illegible] If the words were to be spoken near the White House, a [illegible] with all that is therein would submerge [illegible] the Potomac. And if the forbidden name were whispered in the room of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, strong men would faint and [illegible] would have to be carried out on a shutter.

Oh, no, we never mention it! But it has a [illegible] way of thrusting itself into everybody's thoughts.

Another sign of the [illegible] age in Newark is that [illegible] have gone out of style.

THE SUGAR PARADOX.

(Cleveland Plain Dealer.)

The perennial fight on the subject of sugar duties is looming. Both the American beet sugar growers and the Louisiana cane producers say they will be ruined if substantially higher [illegible] than have prevailed during recent years are not granted them at once. At the same time the Cuban producers who for a number of years have [illegible] through reciprocity the same [illegible] fits as the domestic producers will surely be ruined if they are deprived of their preferential treatment.

The snap judgment [illegible] is that the Cuban producer and grower has no such legitimate claim upon the American government as the American sugar beet growers has. But such a judgment leaves out of account entirely the price of sugar to the consumer, which is, after all, a primary consideration. If the government is concerned over the admittedly unfortunate position of the American sugar producer it can protect him, but in so doing it practically creates a monopoly price for the refined product. If on the other hand the government looks to the interest of the consumer it will direct its measures of relief, if any are to be taken, to the producer in Cuba.

If Cuba is in a position to fill the American sugar bowl at a price substantially less than Michigan, Wisconsin and other states that have been attracted to the beet growing industry as a result of high duties and preferential policy it presents a strong argument in favor of being permitted to do so. A country cannot afford to disregard completely the matter of comparative production costs in determining its policy toward an industry the price of which affects the entire country as the price of sugar does.

But what does the sunrise itself signify to us? If only languid return to frivolous amusement, or fruitless labor, it will, indeed, not be easy for us to conceive the power, over a Greek, of the name of Apollo. But if for us also, as for the Greek, the sunrise means daily restoration to the sense of passionate gladness and of perfect life—if it means the thrilling of new strength through every nerve—the shedding over us of a better peace than the peace of night, in the power of the dawn,—and the purging of evil vision and fear by the baptism of its dew;—if the sun itself is an influence, to us also, of spiritual good—and becomes thus in reality, not in imagination, to us also, a spiritual power,—we may then soon over-pass the narrow limitation which kept that power impersonal, and rise with the Greek to the thought of an angel who rejoiced as a strong man to run his course, whose voice, calling to life and labor, rang round the earth and whose going forth was to the ends of heaven.—Ruskin.

Did You Know

That Marco Polo described the cultivation of the indigo plant and the preparation of a dye from it in the 13th century? Indigo has been used in India from a very early period and was imported from there by the ancient Romans and Greeks. Its use was lost to Europe, however, during a great part of the Middle Ages until re-introduced by the Dutch about the middle of the 16th century. The plant is now cultivated not only in India but in the West Indies, Egypt, Mexico and Brazil. Indigo not only yields a beautiful and [illegible] blue dye, but is also the basis of the best black dye for woolen cloth.

TRIBUTE TO JOHN DOYLE.

Editor, The Advocate:—I have written the following memorium to John Doyle, veteran of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad:

To all earthly work an end must come. Our words of farewell to our fellow-workman should not alone be those of grief that man's common [illegible] come to him, but of gladness that his task has been done worthily.

I desire to join in the last tribute of friendship, and honor the memory of John Doyle, who so recently, in the morning of that day which [illegible] the Angel of Death, with [illegible] footsteps, stole from our group and bore away the one we [illegible] while we stood by, wondering, afraid and numb. Without our friend life is cheerless until someone slips into the vacant place and life is glad again.

Having served with him and under him in the railroad service from 188[illegible], I have the highest regard for his friendship. To me, he was the [illegible] man in health, [illegible] in his actions, as well as pleasing in his manners. His long and honorable career was appreciated by his employers, who realized his natural ability and interest in every detail. To appreciate him you must know him. He, as many other men, was much misunderstood. Outwardly, nothing [illegible] seem to affect him, though [illegible] felt the injustice. The [illegible] step into his heart and [illegible] to the quick. He was [illegible] in his forgiveness, always showing the finer side of his manly nature. He was a lover of justice and fair play. Nothing could swerve him from his course and sense of justice to every man. These things made up his character and the foundation of his high qualities.

After a time there is a rebound. Do we forget? O no. His friendship becomes a sweet and treasured memory. To me, he was a loyal [illegible] I considered him a priceless [illegible] for his many kind acts to me. [illegible] keep that this [illegible] would [illegible] on my part for such a friendship. I have no gift of eloquence with which to give a splendid eulogy. Mine is but a simple tribute to a friend.

He was perfectly [illegible] in his methods, always fulfilling the expectations of his superior officers. As a trainman, in my opinion, he was the right man in the right place. While his powerful physique and pleasing personality, with a wonderful faculty to approach men, made him the more valuable. It is some consolation that he ran his race well, and has taken one short step from life to life eternal.

His family's sorrow is made precious in those sweet ingredients of hope and faith which are intermingled in its fullness. Your loss is his gain. He has reached his reward. "Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his saints." Honored by his veterans who appreciate his untiring energy in their promotion.

Men come and go. He alone lives forever who truly loves and serves his fellowman. He lies at rest now where he sleeps well, and leaves a burden that you may press on. So may we not hope in the high morn of the resurrection that we shall again meet our friend and brother. Some one has said: "He is a great man who is willing to die when life is dear to him."

"How long shall a man live 'tis not for him to know
How well shall a man live 'tis all his own to show."

Respectfully,
DR. CARY F. LEGGE.

JAILS FOUND UNFIT FOR USE

Woman Visits 200 County Bastiles in U. S. For Society.

Leader Declares It One of Worst Evils in America.

(By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.)

Washington, Jan. 20.—"Out of 200 [illegible] recently visited, only 10 were fit for human occupation." This is the report just sent by Mrs. H. S. McIntire, secretary of the Prisoners' Relief society, after a trip from this city to Seattle, in which she visited some 200 jails in order to observe conditions.

Mrs. McIntire found the majority of the institutions dirty and unsanitary and graft rampant. The prisoner who sends out for a quart of milk is apt to have to pay 25 cents, and the change goes to the jailer or whoever does the errand. Vermin of all sorts are the rule, rather than the exception in county jails, we are told. Disinfectants, sanitary precautions in case of illness, clean kitchens are luxuries which seem to have no place in the average jail.

In fact, the county jail, as it is now conducted, is one of the worst evils in the country, according to Earl Dudding, head of the Prisoners' Relief society.

"Very little is heard about bad jail conditions," Dr. Dudding says, "because few attacks are made against individual institutions. Inmates do not dare to protest against unfair treatment. I know of a case in which a man who fell ill asked for a doctor. The request was refused. When he insisted he was knocked unconscious and allowed to lie on the floor all night with a wound in his head. So there are few protests from prisoners."

You might think that the ex-prisoners would expose jail conditions. Dr. Dudding explains that the ex-prisoner is a "jailbird." His record is against him. He would have a hard time establishing a case against county officials.

The few well-to-do men who infrequently get put into jail do not make complaints because they do not as a rule see conditions at their worst. Money will do more in a jail than in a penitentiary. The inmate can generally get luxuries if he can pay, and the man of means does pay.

This privilege of spending money has been attacked as unfair to prisoners who cannot buy luxuries. According to Dr. Dudding, however, the poor man in a jail are glad to see a wealthy man come to join them, because his coming means that they will benefit.

Generosity blossoms out in such institutions, where there is much time for thought, and little things become unusually important. Newspapers, tobacco, fruit, and books bought by the affluent prisoner are passed around. One millionaire who was in a local jail for three months awaiting trial for a large financial theft is said to have spent about $1,000 a day on himself and his neighbors during that time. This amount of spending is unusual, it is true. But the wealthy man in jail can dispose of more money than most people would imagine.

If he has wealth and position a prisoner does not undergo the hardships of ordinary jail life. Even if he did not spend much money, he would be made comfortable, since otherwise he would undoubtedly make trouble afterwards. The wealthy man who has served his jail term somehow generally manages to keep his social status. He is still a power to be recognized, though he is a jailbird.

Then, too, such a man is most apt to be held in a city jail, whereas a rule there is better management than in rural districts. City institutions are visited by many people, whereas a rural jail often is not.

Dr. Dudding feels that people who go to inspect conditions do not, unless they are experienced, see the bad side of jail management. If they write ahead to make an appointment, the officials are warned, and the place is cleaned up when they arrive. Officials pilot them over the buildings and point out the excellent order and the cheerful prisoners.

The visitors may be asked if they wish to talk with the inmates, but with a guard present, such a conversation is not revealing. For a prisoner to complain of the food or to remark that the table dishes had been washed that day for the first time in a week, could obviously result only in denial by the officials and hard treatment for the unfortunate who protested. The prisoners know this, and they do not complain on such occasions.

When Dr. Dudding pointed out conditions in one jail in a nearby state, his accusations aroused the county to action. A grandjuryman came to Washington to talk over the situation. "Go out there to see for yourself," Dudding told him. "But when you go, insist on the officials staying out and letting you go in alone. The men will then tell you exactly what I have, and show you proof."

Dirty bedding, dirty clothing, bad ventilation, rats, vermin and poor food sound like medieval prison conditions, but they are not the root evil, Dr. Dudding explains. A great part of jail discomfort is attributed by him and by others acquainted with the situation to the fee system.

The fee system works this way: for every inmate in a jail the jailer receives from the county treasury a sum for food and such clothing and necessities as may be called for. The amount given varies widely in different states and counties. It may be said, roughly to average 50 cents a day per person. The jailer is generally paid a small salary, and if anything can be saved out of the expenses of the prisoners he can pocket it.

Thus, if he can feed his boarders on beans, bacon, and potatoes for 12 cents a day and save more than 30 cents a head, he sometimes succumbs to the temptation of making this much profit, regardless of the health of the men who are dependent on him. This profit, whatever it is, the jailer may divide with the sheriff, whol gave him his political appointment.

Dr. Dudding says that when crime is dull, and a jail is empty it is not an unknown practice for a sheriff to speak to special detectives on the railroads about the hard times. If the detectives are amenable to the suggestion, they will take extra trouble to hunt out all the hoboes they can find for a few days and send them to fill up the jail. Each boarder at the institution means, of course, 20 cents a day, or whatever can be saved out of the expense money, to the jailer.

Politics, too, play a part in jail administration. The sheriff is elected. He appoints a county jailer, and as is always true where political appointments are made, sometimes a man is selected who is known for executive ability or honesty. So graft creeps in.

Personal belongings of prisoners, such as watches, knives, and wallets, are taken from them when they wear jail clothing. We are told that in some places the jailer does not consider it necessary to return these articles when the man is released. One prisoner who was transferred to a penitentiary was refused $12 left in his pocket when he entered jail to await trial. The prisoner was helpless. The superintendent of the penitentiary learned of the instance, however, and wrote a letter which brought the $12 by return mail.

So long as the fees system and politics are associated with our numerable county jails, the situation cannot be much improved, Dr. Dudding believes. Here and there where investigations are held or officials are honest and take a personal interest in the welfare of their charges, there are jails which are "fit for human beings to live in."

The remedy, according to Dr. Dudding, is to make jail officials civil service appointees. He thinks that if the Federal government were to supervise these institutions and inspect them rigorously once a month, conditions would be bound to improve.

The next best thing would be state control of the county institutions for prisoners. This would be easier to bring about than Federal control. Dr. Dudding also thinks that by limiting jail officials to fixed salaries, of reasonable size, and by having a strict system of accounts and supervision, our medieval jails could be made considerably more up-to-date.

THE AWARD

The award or awards from the income of the Foundation will be made from time to time by a nationally constituted committee to the individual or group that has rendered within a specified period meritorius service to democracy, public welfare, liberal thought or peace through justice.

THE ADVOCATE FUND

The certificate will be issued from National Headquarters of the Foundation, 150 Nassau Street, New York City.

LONG RUN REVIVAL.

Rev. P. E. Wright closed the special meetings at Long Run U. B. church Sunday with a packed house. Twenty two knelt at the altar and definitely accepted Christ. Eighteen have thus far united with the church and more will follow. The pastor will organize a C. E. society, Sunday, Jan. 29. Rev. Mr. Wright preached 29 sermons in 15 days and secured seven new subscribers to the "Telescope," a church publication. The Long Run community is noted for its helpfulness to others when sick or in need. A wood-chopping, corn-husking or some other event is a common thing—this community where hospitality and sociability prevails, the pastor declares.

MONUMENT TO CHINESE-AMERICAN FRIENDSHIP

This granite arch, near Chefoo, China, bears the following inscription .

"DEDICATED TO AND ERECTED IN HONOR OF
THE CITIZENS OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
OUR FRIENDS ACROSS THE SEA
MAY THERE BE ETERNAL PEACE BETWEEN THE TWO PEOPLES"

The Chinese Puzzle of 400,000,000 Mortals

"Whoever understands China socially, politically, economically, and religiously, holds the key to the world's politics for the next five centuries."—Former Secretary of State, JOHN HAY.

WITH SEVENTY THOUSAND Chinese studying and working among us; with "the Open Door" in China standing as the great, dominant American policy in the Far East; with the traditional friendship between China and the United States constantly finding new expression, it still remains true to-day that to practically all Americans China, with her four hundred millions of human beings, is a vast unknown, a mystery unfathomable. Never has so good an opportunity come to Americans to know and understand China as now, when Japan and China have been brought together at a conference table of the world's great powers in the Capital of the American Republic. Therefore THE LITERARY DIGEST has prepared a complete presentation of China, the Country, the People, their Industries, their Ideals, and their Relations with the Rest of the World.

Americans Now May Know the Whole Story of China

A HOARY HISTORY

Countless ages back, lost in the mists of antiquity, thousands of years before the Christian Era, the Chinese people began,—no one knows how. Did they spring from the soil, or migrate from ancient Turkey, or Syria, or did they actually descend from Noah, after the Flood? Their many centuries of known history is full of wonderful happenings. An outline of it is given in this special number of THE DIGEST.

THE WHITE RAIDS ON CHINA

"The story of China for the past hundred years has been largely the story of her spoliation by the white races." To all who are accustomed to think of Japan's "extension of influence" as the chiefest of China's troubles, the article describing "Europe's Encroachments on China's Sovereignty" will bring an astounding revelation.

AMERICA: FRIEND and PROTECTOR

During all the troublesome years of European and Japanese encroachments and demands on China, only one great power in the world has stood by her as her protector, and is her protector to-day, and that power is America. A splendid article tells what America has done and is doing to maintain "the Open Door" and to protect China from voracious raids of foreign powers.

SHANTUNG

The cradle of Chinese Civilization; the Holy Land of the Chinese People; the birthplace of the silk industry, an Eden of agriculture; an Aladdin's Cave of precious metals and stones; the heart that controls the internal commerce, and communications of the entire Chinese Empire; one of the richest and most densely populated provinces of the earth; self-governed for five thousand years—There are many reasons "Why They Struggle for Shantung," and the article under that title is full of surprizing information, illustrated with a specially-drawn map.

JAPAN'S 21 DEMANDS

Probably not five persons in every ten thousand Americans could name even three of the famous "twenty-one demands" imposed upon China by Japan. Yet these demands have the most vital relationship to any settlement of the great "Problem of the Far East." They have been variously interpreted by the powers concerned. One of the most important articles in this week's DIGEST reveals "The Secret of the Twenty-One Demands."

CHINA'S RELIGIONS, CUSTOMS, ART

To know China it is necessary to know her religions. A clear explanation of the part which Buddhism, Taoism, Confucianism, Ancestor Worship, and Christianity play in Chinese life is contained in a special article on the subject. "Men and Manners in China" is another colorful article, full of interesting incidents. The "Peculiar Qualities of Chinese Art" are instructively described.

UNBINDING THE WOMEN

Along with the crippling of Chinese women's feet and the custom of killing or selling girl-babies, has gone a general subordination of the whole sex. But women in China are being unbound, physically, mentally, morally, and socially. A most instructive article tells how the transformation is being wrought.

SCIENCE IN CHINA

While the people in Europe were going about dressed in the skins of wild animals and using pieces of stone tied to sticks for tools and weapons, the Chinese were a highly developed and skilful nation. They were the inventors of gunpowder, the mariner's compass, the art of printing, the making of porcelain, and the manufacture of silk. Read about their casting of metals, their electrical industries, their medicine, their curious treatment of fractures, and many other marvels and oddities.

A LANGUAGE OF PICTURES

Chinese written characters are full of expressive symbolism and piquant commentaries on social and industrial life. There is a picture character for "man" and another for "field." Both put together mean "farmer." Combine the character which means "word" with "man" and we have a man and his word, or "honesty." The symbols for "woman" and "son" together mean "good." Two of the symbols for "woman," together, mean "quarrel." Three of them together stand for "gossip." An interesting article reproduces and explains many of these story characters of the Chinese language.

An Exclusive Map, in Colors, of the Divided Republic

No such map has been published in this country before. It shows at a glance the provinces under the Peking Government, those under the Canton Government, and those which are independent or neutral. The leading article tells the whole story of the Divided Republic. Another valuable map shows the Province of Shantung, with its railways, roads, cable lines, and grand canal, as well as the location of its iron and coal fields and other mines. Still another map shows just where the zones of commercial influence of the various European Powers in China are located. These maps are of infinite value in making plain the real situation in China. The flag of the Chinese Republic is reproduced in correct colors on the cover.

TESSA KOSTA, PRIMA DONNA, IS A SELF-TRAINED SINGER

Tessa Kosta

New York, Jan. 20.—Prominent players of the stage have organized the National Players, a stock company which will present a series of revivals at the National theater.

Probably the most interesting personality in all these revivals is Tessa Kota, prima donna of "The Chocolate Soldier." She was chosen for that role in competition with a hundred other singers—and she has never received vocal instruction!

Self-trained, she made her stage debut as prima donna of the touring company of "Madame Sherry" before she was 17. Since then she has been prima donna in "The Beauty Shop," "The Royal Vagabond," "Chu Chin Chow" and "Lassie."

A resume of recent plays introduced to Broadway stages shows that our native playwrights are unable to stem the "foreign invasion."

The real successes of American plays now current are revivals of old productions. The successful new plays are mainly the work of Europeans.

The three plays of the last fortnight that hold the most promise of success are all of English origin. They are "The Dover Road," by A. A. Milne, "Bull Dog Drummond," by Cyril McNeil, who wrote under the nom de plume of "Sapper," and "Captain Applejack," by Walter Hackett.

The two Belasco successes are "Kiki" and "The Grand Duke," both parisian comedies.

[illegible] current vehicle, "[illegible]," is an adaptation from the Italian.

"The Idle Inn," Ben Ami's play from the Yiddish theater, promises to be a success after a dubious start.

The one field in which the native playwrights seem to rise above their foreign competitors is musical comedy. The latest of these to reach Broadway is "Up in the Clouds," the work of Will B. Johnstone and Tom Johnstone, newspaper men. It has come in from a run in Chicago and a road tour.

The drill team of St. Luke's Commandery, Knights Templar, entertained with the second dance of the season at the Masonic Temple Thursday evening. The program was arranged by Abbott's orchestra and was greatly enjoyed. A luncheon was served and the committee in charge [illegible] over the success of the dance. The date of the next of the series will be announced later. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Recknagle, J. L. Hayden, W. Bowers, L. N. Bradley, Willis Smith, Ed. Hellar, Edgar Follett, J. E. Davies, George A. Weekly, F. M. Alexander, S. M. Wolfe, G. A. Davis, B. V. Weakley, F. S. Horner, I Moore, J. Schrader, W. H. Butler, S. R. Wilson, W. H. Mercer, A. L. Burton, C. G. Miller, G. B. Dried fruit should be scalded to kill any germs. After scalding, the fruit should be washed thoroughly, and then dried and stored in sterile glass jars ready for use.

Mrs. W. W. Davis And Miss Doomey Heard in Recital

An artistic and enjoyable recital was given by the Woman's Music club Thursday afternoon at Taylor Hall, the program being given by Bertha May Doomey, soprano and Mrs. W. W. Davis, pianist. Miss Doomey possesses a soprano voice of a notable quality, her range is ample. She sings with considerable dramatic feeling, which was proven in her numbers of that kind.

Her program was varied, and was made up of serious recital songs as well as those which gave her an opportunity to do light and delicate shading of which she is so capable. Her program made severe demands upon her voice are art—the texture of her voice was rich especially in her "Arta de Marburita" from Faust wis this displayed.

She possesses a charming stage presence which added materially to the interest of her program which embraced "Il Neige"—Puccini's aria from La Boheme—an old Irish—an Old English—a negro spiritual and many lovely American songs.

Of Mrs. Davis it must be said she was never heard to play better. In her group she expressed a flexibility of fingering such artistic phrasing and is considered exetptionally fine in her art for playing the piano. Mrs. Davis has a keen musical conception and sense of rhythm, her evenly developed technic was all portrayed in her group of Chopin, Raff and Liszt. She also rendered splendid support to the singer in her accompaniments. Both responded to encores.

Eight Queens Will Attend Royal Wedding

Million Stitches For 12 Costumes

"A million stitches for twelve costumes."

That's what it took to make the gorgeously bejeweled costumes of the Siamese dancing girls in one episode of Cecil B. DeMille's latest Paramount picture, "Fool's Paradise."

These costumes, perhaps the most ornately beautiful ever designed for the screen, were created by Clare West, special costume designer for Cecil B. DeMille productions, working in collaboration with Mrs. Florence Meehan, an authority on all matters Oriental and particularly on Siamese dress and customs.

The twelve dancers appear in reproductions of famous Temple Dances which have been handed down from daughter to daughter through generations of Siamese life. Their wierd gyrations are seen nowhere else in the world, nor are their customs used for any other purpose.

Pickled Beets.

Wash and boil beets till tender. Plunge in cold water and slip skins. Cut in slices about 1-4 inch thick. Put a layer in a crock or deep dish, sprinkle lightly with salt. Continue slicing and salting until all the beets are used. Heat 2 cups vinegar with 1-2 cup granulated sugar to the boiling point but do not let boil. Pour over beets and let stand over night. There should be more than enough vinegar to cover beets. Drain from vinegar to serve.

Beets in Orange Sauce.

Wash beets and cook in boiling water till tender. Drain and save 1-4 cup of water in which the beets were boiled. Make a sauce and pour over beets cut in tiny balls with a vegetable cutter.

Sauce: 1 tablespoon butter, 1 tablespoon flour, 1-4 cup beet water, 1-2 teaspoon grated rind of orange, 1-2 cup orange juice, 1-4 cup cream, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper.

Melt butter, stir in flour and add beet water. Add grated orange rind, orange jiuce, cream, salt and pepper. Cook stirring constantly till thick and smooth.

Piquante Sauce.

One tablespoon butter, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1-2 cup vinegar, 1-2 cup water, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon paprika.

Melt butter, stir in flour and slowly add water. Cook until smooth and add vinegar, salt and pepper and sugar. Cook again until smooth and pour over beets.
